AMPHIBIAN AIR ROUTE PLANNED IN OHIO VALLEY

Planes Will Operate Between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

ORDER EQUIPMENT

East Liverpool, Wheeling and Marietta to Be Ports.

Plans have been perfected for an amphibian air route between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, with the likelihood of East Liverpool being made one of the ports, it was announced at Pittsburgh today.

Equipment for the route has been ordered, according to officials of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries corporation. R. W. Robbins, vice-president of the aviation company, announced the launching of the Ohio valley lines.

Wheeling and Marietta have been placed on the proposed air route.

BIG nations fight when they choose, as Europe knows to its cost. But they don't want other nations to fight and disturb trade. The French urge China and Russia not to fight. The British, also. Japan won't allow the South Manchurian Railway to transport Chinese troops and munitions.

IT IS certain that China does not want war. She gets all the fighting she needs within her own borders. It is a pleasure for Northern Chinese to fight Southern Chinese, as it once was for Cossacks, in Russia, to kill Circassians.

THE late Count Witte, here to negotiate the Russian-Japanese peace, over Theodore Roosevelt's head, said that Russia speaking 40 languages, with 40 kinds of internal hatreds, would never get another stable government if it overthrew the caesars. He was mistaken.

JAPAN'S feelings are hurt because Secretary Stimson, through France and Great Britain, tried to negotiate a Russian-Chinese peace without consulting Tokyo.

Japan feels that Asia is her front yard and she should be consulted.

THAT is reasonable. If Mexico and Brazil threatened war and Japan started to intervene this country would ask WHY?

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., is said to have purchased Houdon's bust of George Washington, made at Mount Vernon in 1785.

Newspapers will talk about the price, which means nothing. The important thing is to bring to this country the finest bust of Washington.

If you have seen Houdon's statue of Voltaire, you will believe that he did justice to Washington.

MR. ROCKEFELLER would oblige many if he would cause perfect bronze or other reproductions of the Houdon Washington to be made and distributed at low cost through department or other stores. The French government does that with its magnificent treasures in the Louvre.

FARMERS are told that the value of this year's wheat crop has increased $364,000,000 since June 1. How much of that the farmers will get, how much middle men, and escape. (Continued on page 8, Column 3)

GUILFORD PARK WORK PLEDGED BY STATE AIDE

Carl Van Voorhis Speaks At Sportsmen's Field Day.

COUNTY OUTING
State Senator Emmons And Brother, R. W., Are Guests.

Promising continued progress in the construction of the reservoir at Guilford state park as a result of the creation of a state board of conservation, Carl Van Voorhis, of Columbus, assistant to J. W. Thompson, chief of the fish and game division of the state department of agriculture, yesterday told sportsmen at the annual outing of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association that Ohio has put too much money into the project to withdraw its support at this time.

Van Voorhis spoke in the place of Thompson, who was unable to attend as a result of illness. Accompanying him to Guilford were Ralph W. Emmons, of East Rochester, member of the state civil service commission; his brother, State Senator V. D. Emmons, Akron, and Edward T. Fogo, Wellsville, deputy state commissioner of motor vehicles.

The Rev. R. K. Caulk, rector of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, East Liverpool, an officer of the sportsmen's unit, presided.

"The state has already invested approximately $60,000 in this proposition and that is too much money to waste," said Van Voorhis. "The new act creating a state board of conservation goes into effect today and as soon as the board organization is completed, I feel certain that further progress will be made. I promise you that as long as I am connected with the department, I will use every means to complete this proposition as quickly as possible."

Ralph W. Emmons, former state representative, discussed briefly the history of Guilford park and the old Beaver and Sandy canal which once flowed through the present lake site. State Senator Emmons reviewed progress of legislation thus far in regard to the state park.

Approximately 1,000 sportsmen and their friends attended the outing.

War-like Demonstrations Again Flare on Manchurian Line, Tokio Reports Indicate.

CHINESE CALM

White Guards, Anti-Communists, are Massing Forces for Drive Against Soviets.

TOKIO, July 25.—(INS)—War-like demonstrations again flared on the Manchurian border today, according to reports received here.

After five Soviet airplanes had been fired upon while flying over Manchuria, it was reported that Russian artillery, in reprisal, had fired over the border, causing great confusion among the Chinese troops. The Chinese artillery did not return the fire.

Chinese Diplomats Leave Moscow. MOSCOW, July 25.—White Guards (anti-communist Russians) and Chinese have dynamited the administration building of the Trans-Baikal railway at Pogranichnaya, the official Soviet news agency announced this afternoon.

General Sacharov, commander of the White forces, is reported to be massing 300 "Manchurian whites" for an attack against the Soviet troops.

Soviet citizens just returned from Harbin report that rumors are current there that the whites are "planning a pogrom."

The Chinese legation staff, after being ordered three times to leave Moscow, left for Finland shortly after midnight.

Germany Declines Mediator Role. BERLIN, July 25.—(INS)—Germany will refuse to act as mediator in the Sino-Russian conflict even if requested by either party to the dispute, it was stated today in official circles.

This is Germany's answer to the arbitration or mediation suggestions published by the United States.

According to the German view, Soviet Russia and China want direct negotiations for settlement of their problems.

However, the real reason Germany will not intervene in the quarrel is this country's unwillingness "to haul the chestnuts out of the fire for powers with big Asiatic interests."

The German press feels that Secretary of State Stimson "snubbed" Germany by delaying notification of the American proposals.

Government officials refuse to comment until the exact text of Secretary Stimson's statement is received.

KIWANIS HEARS TRAFFIC RULES

New traffic regulations in the Diamond were explained in detail in talks by Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore and Chief of Police Hugh McDermott today at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club in the Travelers' hotel.

T. Earl Moore, of Washington, D. C., field representative of the American Red Cross and an expert swimmer, also made an address.

Dr. Clyde Larkins, vice-president, presided.

WUEBKER HEADS RURAL CARRIERS

CHILLICOTHE, O., July 25.—(INS)—E. A. Wuebker, West Dover, is, today, the new head of the Ohio Rural Letter Carriers' association, which closed its annual convention here with the election of officers and the selection of Lorain as the convening place for 1930.

The other officers elected are: Sherman Darrah, Macksburg, vice president; A. L. French, Washington, C. H., secretary, and S. V. Glick, Holgate, treasurer.

That Japan is friendly to the United States, natives of the Philippine Islands have not yet reached a stage of development by which they can govern themselves, China exceedingly dislikes Japan, and the island upon which rests the city of Honolulu is a veritable earthly paradise were some of the pertinent affirmations made by Jason H. Brookes, veteran East Liverpool attorney, to members of the Southern Columbiana County Bar association following a dinner in the Traveler's hotel last night.

He was presented by Samuel W. Crawford, president of the association

Seated with them at the speaker's table were Judge W. F. Lones of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and John J. Purinton, who had traversed the spots visited by the speaker in 1924 when he made a trip around the world.

Among the lawyers in attendance were Walter F. Hill, James McSweeney, Blaine H. Cochran, William S. Foulkes, Richard G. and George S. Thompson, Charles Boyd and P. V. Mackall. The visitors include Jules Bergum of Pittsburgh, Pa., and T. T. Jones of this city.

REGION CHIEF ADVISES SCOUT CAMP PURCHASE

W. M. Haun Also Suggests Program Director.

VISITS EAGLETON

Recommends Improvements at Leased Site Near Lisbon.

Purchase of a permanent camp site and appointment of a program director next year were recommended by H. W. Haun, of Columbus, deputy regional staff executive, at a conference with representatives of the Columbiana County Council, Boy Scouts, at Eagleton camp, near Lisbon, last night.

Haun, who is making an inspection of camps in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, county council members and newspaper men were guests at a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the county camp where 75 boys are now quartered.

Eagleton camp, which was used last summer as well as this year for the annual outings of county troops, is under a lease which expires next fall. The camp will close in September.

Haun also made recommendations regarding drainage of the marsh land at the Eagleton camp, but pointed out the advantage of acquiring a permanent site.

County Executive C. E. Felton of Lisbon introduced the visiting officer. J. S. Hilbert and Frank M. Gardner of East Liverpool were among the dinner guests.

MOCK TRIAL HELD BY LIONS' CLUB

Charles Boyd, alias Karl W. Gero, was found guilty of larceny of a gray felt hat belonging to Fay Glasscock, city engineer, at a mock trial conducted after the weekly dinner of the Lions' club in the grill room of the Travelers' hotel last night. "Judge" Lewis M. Capehart will sentence the defendant at next week's meeting.

William S. Foulkes and G. L. Brokaw prosecuted the case, while Harry Brokaw was defense counsel. Dr. J. A. Fraser, H. S. Lindell, D. J. Savelsberg, P. E. North and H. D. Rist were members of the jury.

Clapsaddle will be chairman of next week's program.

FARMER SHOT, YOUTH JAILED

Quarrel Over Visit to Victim's Daughter Is Blamed.

BATAVIA, O., July 25.—(INS)—Accused of shooting Hubert Haywood, 58, farmer and race horse man, living near here, Howard Hill, 30, was confined in the Batavia jail today awaiting the outcome of Haywood's injury. Haywood's condition was said to be serious. He was shot through the liver as the result of his objection to Hill paying attentions to Haywood's daughter, Mary, 28, authorities declared.

Haywood is in a Cincinnati hospital. Police said Hill admitted shooting Haywood.

The shooting occurred last night shortly after Hill arrived at the Haywood farm. According to Hill's alleged confession, Haywood, armed with a double-barreled shotgun, met Hill at the door of the Haywood farm house and insisted that Hill should not see his daughter. Hill, it was stated, had a 32-caliber revolver. Haywood ordered Hill off the farm.

The men began wrestling, according to Hill. This continued as the two men moved through the yard to a road where, Hill said, he shot Haywood who was trying to choke him.

Seated with them at the speaker's table were Judge W. F. Lones of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and John J. Purinton, who had traversed the spots visited by the speaker in 1924 when he made a trip around the world.

Among the lawyers in attendance were Walter F. Hill, James McSweeney, Blaine H. Cochran, William S. Foulkes, Richard G. and George S. Thompson, Charles Boyd and P. V. Mackall. The visitors include Jules Bergum of Pittsburgh, Pa., and T. T. Jones of this city.

FLIERS NEAR 300-HOUR GOAL

It's not often that wives will permit their husbands to go sky-tanking about for a couple of weeks or so at a stretch without at least stopping in to say hello, but with Mrs. Forrest O'Brien (left, above) and Mrs. Dale Jackson (right) it's different.

Louis endurance fliers, O'Brien (left, below) and "Red" Jackson, who took off in their ship, the "St. Louis Robin" 13 days ago in quest of a 300-hour world endurance record, with the plane's motors humming smoothly today, it appears that the fliers will achieve their goal unless some unforeseen contingency arises.

Champion Fliers Defy Thirteenth Day Jinx

'Everything Going Fine,' St. Louis "Robin" Pilots Say as They Near 300-hour Goal.

LAMBERT FIELD, ST. LOUIS, July 25.—(INS)—The St. Louis "Robin" had been in the air 292 hours at 11:17 today. "We expect to stay in the air over 500 hours," read a message received from the pilots.

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LAMBERT FIELD, ST. LOUIS, July 25.—With that buccaneering disregard for records and precedent which has characterized the St. Louis Robin's epochal endurance flight, two adventuresome pilots, Dale "Red" Jackson and Forrest O'Brien, gayly defied an old-established jinx by flying serenely into their thirteenth day in the air at 7:17 this morning.

At this time the flying air castle had been among the clouds for 288 hours and its whirling propeller blades were sounding a monotonous challenge to that 300-hour goal which a few weeks ago had seemed farther away from aviation attainment than the big golden harvest moon which has lighted the fliers' long nights in the air.

The "St. Louis Robin" has now added more than 41 hours to the former world record for sustained flying set by the "Angeleno" and no one is willing to predict when the plans will come down.

POPE PIUS XI QUILTS VATICAN

Pontiffs Liberated From Self-imposed Captivity.

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—The Catholic popes were "liberated" tonight from their long, self-imposed captivity in the Vatican when Pope Pius XI made his historic exit from St. Peter's church into St. Peter's square in the presence of more than a quarter of a million spectators.

It was an imposing spectacle when the pontiff was borne from the Vatican church kneeling upon his podium beneath a canopy of silk. The solemnity of this scene, breaking a church precedent of nearly 60 years' duration, held the mighty host of men and women spectators, drawn here from the ends of the earth, spellbound during the hour's pageantry that preceded a brief religious service at an improvised altar upon the steps of St. Peter's church.

Standing bareheaded at this temporary shrine beneath the slanting rays of the setting sun, which glistened upon the purple and crimson robes of the prelates and the brilliant uniforms of the state and papal troops, the pontiff extended his blessing to the Eternal City and the entire world.

CANTON SINGER, HUMORIST DIES

CANTON, O., July 25.—(INS)—Marvin E. Moore, 51, widely known singer and musician, died here today from heart trouble after an illness of two days.

Moore was known throughout northeastern Ohio as a humorist and luncheon club speaker. He is survived by his wife, three sisters and a brother.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 25.—(INS)—Running amuck, John D. Seavers, 38, of Cleveland, O., fatally shot his wife and wounded three other persons who were in an automobile with him on the Youngstown-New Castle road today. The three wounded were in a serious condition.

Mrs. Seavers died at the hospital here. Mrs. Catherine Rodgers and her son, Walter, of Cleveland, and Seavers' father, John Seavers, were rushed through an examination at the hospital, revealing that they were critically hurt.

SEVEN AUTOISTS DIE IN DESERT

Mother, Father and Children Victims of Thirst.

EL CENTRO, Calif., July 25.—(INS)—Victims of a desert tragedy, the bodies of Enrique Armenta and his family of six were brought to a morgue here today after having been found in the scorching sands of the desert, where, under a scorching sun, they died of heat and thirst.

ET CENTRO, Calif., July 25.—(INS)—Victims of the desert, a family of seven Mexicans are dead today. All of them—mother, father and five children—apparently died of thirst when their automobile broke down 20 miles from inland on an abandoned desert road.

The body of the father was found near the automobile, indicating he died while making a frantic effort to repair the machine. The mother and five children were found at various distances from the car, where they collapsed while attempting to go for water.

Officers have gone into the desert to gather the dead bodies and to identify the family, if possible.

INVALID TRAPPED AS HOME BURNS

CLEVELAND, July 25.—(INS)—Police today attempted to determine the cause of a fire which razed a home in Independence Village, near here, burning to death its sole occupant at the time, Miss Anna Bokiller, 28, an invalid, who was trapped by the flames in her bedroom on the second story of the structure.

OHIOAN IS HELD IN DRUG QUIZ

MANFIELD, O., July 25.—(INS)—James Daniels, 34, Mansfield Negro, was held here today by federal officers on a drug charge and for investigation in the killing of Eddie Bouds, another Negro, near Ashland. Daniels is alleged to have sold narcotics to other Negroes at the railroad camp where Bouds was killed.

BETSY ANN WILL MAKE 4,000-MILE RIVER JOURNEY

Pittsburgh Steamer Will Go to St. Paul, Minn.

60 RESERVATIONS

Boat Will Leave Home Harbor on August 10.

The steamer Betsy Ann, of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet company, will make a round trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn. It was announced today by Captain Fred Way, Jr., president of the line. The craft will leave Pittsburgh on Saturday, August 10, on the 4,000-mile trip. The boat will return about August 30. The passenger list has been limited to 60.

On account of the re-entry of the Queen City in the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati trade, the Betsy Ann was withdrawn until October.

This will be the first time that a steamboat has left the Pittsburgh harbor for that distant port in 15 years. The slack water in the Ohio river will make it possible. The steamer Joe Fowler in 1914 made the trip, but was compelled to discharge its passengers at Louisville on the return trip on account of low water.

The river stages at noon today at Dam No. 8 were 15.6 feet in the upper pool and 9 feet in the lower pool.

The Betsy Ann will touch here tonight, en route to Sistersville, W. Va., with a load of freight to be transferred to the Senator Cordill.

DR. R. H. GOODWIN ASCENDS RAINIER

Dr. Robert H. Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Goodwin, Thompson avenue, who recently graduated from the Harvard Medical school at Cambridge, Mass., was one of five men who recently ascended to the summit of Mt. Rainier, in the Rainier National park near Seattle, Wash.

Dr. Goodwin, accompanied by Dr. W. R. Frazier, Portland, Ore., and another friend and two guides made the trip up the ice and snow covered mountain-side last week, being the first persons to ascend the mountain this year. Two other men who attempted to ascend the mountain were killed on July 3.

TWO MEN LOST IN LAKE STORM

Boat Found Swamped Off Shore at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, July 25. — (INS) — Fear was felt here today for the lives of two men who were caught in a severe electrical storm last night while rowing in Lake Erie.

The men were sighted in distress off the shore of the lake. Their craft was being lashed by waves driven by a 35-mile-an-hour wind which accompanied the storm. Shortly after the men had been sighted, they disappeared.

Coast guards cruised up and down the shore of the lake for hours but found no trace of the boatmen. They expressed the belief that the men were swept overboard and carried into Lake Erie to their death.

A rowboat, which had been rented by two men from the Gordon park boathouse and which was believed to have been the one seen in distress, was found swamped at the lake shore near where the two men had been sighted.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is inside — bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation — send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. — Adv.

BAY STATE SEEKS LEGION MEET

BOSTON. — Officers of the Massachusetts American Legion are now preparing to contest California's claim for the 1930 national convention. It has been generally conceded that California was due to be the scene of the convention next year but the Boston Post is eager to secure the conclave as a part of the great tercentenary celebration now being planned.

Coming in the latter part of October, the assembly of the legion would help conclude the celebration with a blaze of patriotic glory.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings, but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 399-1631 E. Third street, Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

A clear skin is irresistible

...in fact, popularity depends upon it

THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the hearts of men.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red-blood-cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

Death of O. H. Sebring

The sudden death of O. H. Sebring, who has been identified with the American ceramic industry for nearly a half century, proved as much of a shock to East Liverpool as it did to the Mahoning county town which he founded, for he was a native of the Pottery City.

As the eldest member of the family, he was active in the operation of the pottery which bore the Sebring name in East Liverpool before he established his home just over the Columbiana county line 30 years ago. And no small part of the credit for the success of the Sebring interests was attributed to him.

With his brothers he organized the Oliver China company, the first industry in Sebring. And their interests expanded in the establishment of other ceramic plants and allied industries. And, too, he was one of the chief figures in the recently organized American Chinaware corporation, a $25,000,000 merger of eastern Ohio potteries, including two in East Liverpool.

Mr. Sebring was a man of sterling Christian character and exemplified it in his business. His death is a great loss to the town of Sebring in particular and to the pottery industry in general.

Eating a Way To Health

If the consensus of opinion of the delegates to the convention of the American Medical association in Portland, Oregon, may be taken as authority, many people who are eating their way into the grave may, by a change of diet, eat their way into many years of extended usefulness.

One of the speakers revealed that a great majority of his ailing patients were such because of eating improper foods.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, of Chicago, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, made a special point of the need of care in his diet which the man of fifty should exercise. "At fifty," he said, "the average man may look forward to living just past seventy. But if he watches his diet, and observes the simple rules of hygiene, he shall live from five to seven and a half years longer. If you would live until seventy-five instead of seventy, watch your dinner plate."

Dr. Lowell Langstroth, of San Francisco who has become prominent in his profession because of his dietary researches, told of his study of 501 cases which, he said, represented a cross section of American life, and he gave figures showing how these cases, which included high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, rheumatism, diabetes, heart disease and a number of cases of unexplained headaches, had been greatly improved by the corrective diet. Referring to the 501 cases, he said:

"Bread, meat, potatoes, all forms of sweet dessert, and the accessory foods, butter, cream, sugar, and mayonnaise, formed the bulk of the average diet, actually seventy-nine per cent. Bread and butter were the largest single items, sixteen and seventeen per cent, respectively. For the most part, these foods are naturally or artificially concentrated and free from residue, and at least the bread and meat have an acid ash. With exception of butter and cream, they are vitamin poor.

"The protective foods formed twelve per cent of the average diet. The commonest of these are eggs, milk, fruit, vegetables and lettuce. The vitamins which they contain so abundantly have been shown by animal experiments to be necessary for growth, reproduction, and the prevention of the common degenerative diseases mentioned."

Throughout the convention there was not a dissenting voice to the manifestly general view of the assembled physicians that the day of the "pill-vending" doctor is passing and that of the "physician-dietitian" is dawning.

June Brides And July Wives

Where are the sweet-faced, blushing brides who walked down the church aisles during the month of June to kneel at the marriage altar and there be taken unto various and sundry young men as wives? No longer at the altar, no longer at the church, but surely somewhere. Where?

One hint comes from a cooking expert who states that the great problem which the new wife has to meet and conquer is that of finding cooking recipes designed to answer the needs of two persons. Halving, or otherwise dividing culinary formulae that call for pieces of butter the size of a walnut or as much flour as can be heaped on a tablespoon is a process demanding mathematical precision and fame waits to drape the shoulders of the man or woman who will compile a cook book couched in understandable terms for the newly-wed pair. The bride's temper and the bridegroom's digestion will both profit.

Yes, it is not difficult to find the June bride, even as late as the latter part of the month of July. With the exception of those few brides of the wealthy who will miss all the joys of learning how to keep house and administer to the wants of the scrupulous male, she may be found secure and happy in her first home, busy with the little cares of her wilfully adopted sphere of existence. She may be a little disillusioned, but it is fully as possible that the events of the first few months have merely served to build up greater illusions. Her arms and hands, which may never have known the hardships of domestic labor before, will bear a few scars, some cuts gained in their clumsy efforts to adapt themselves to new tasks, and some painful burns from the oven door, or the kettle lid. Lucky indeed are the June bridegrooms who succeeded in finding permanent housekeepers and helpmeets who did not have to go through the slow process of "breaking in," but were already trained in the duties of their new existence. They are few, but rumor has it that they still exist.

The June brides are learning how to live, how to support themselves and a helpless male in the home. They are doing one of the most important jobs in the world. They draw the sympathy and the envy of all mankind for the hugeness of their task.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—Not a thriller on the screen is causing movie audiences more excitement, suspense, and perplexity than what is being experienced by the men who make the movies. Enough, perhaps, has been written of the difficulties which the actors and actresses have been encountering as a result of the transition from silent to sound pictures. The public has heard plenty of stories about how stars of the silent screen are finding themselves out of jobs because their speaking and singing voices are not adapted to the talkies. It is known that several foreign stars who shone in the Hollywood firmament have had to return to Europe because they could not adequately speak the English language.

But, while heartburnings and disappointments have accompanied these personal results of the change, the most profound disturbance has occurred in connection with the business side of the movies, both as to producers and distributors. The entire industry finds itself in the most involved difficulties it ever has encountered—and all because the wheel of progress has brought around the sound picture.

Those who today are in the most dire straits are the class known as the independent exhibitors. These are owners of motion picture houses in the various communities of the United States from large cities down to the small-town, open-air movie shows. They have been caught in the cogs of the grinding wheels of progress and are rapidly succumbing. At least one hundred motion picture houses are closing every week.

The motion picture industry, like every mushroom industry which grows overnight from a small, experimental business into a gigantic one, has developed in a somewhat disorganized manner. Producers have acted without regard to each other; distributors have done somewhat similarly; and as to the exhibitors, until recently it has been a case of every man for himself. The result, inevitably, has been a lack of organization to meet the revolutionary transition from silent to sound pictures.

Will Hays, former Postmaster General of the United States and now head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, has been called the czar, the supreme arbiter of the movie industry. He is recognized as one of the most highly skilled negotiators and arbitrators in the United States, qualified to settle almost any problem. He has functioned successfully in many movie crises but has never been confronted by a situation such as now exists. The whole motion picture industry has its eyes upon him and so would the general public have were it informed of the tremendous drama taking place behind the scenes in the industry.

This is what has been and now is happening. With the advent of the synchronized talking pictures, the public nearly everywhere has demanded them. In order to hold their business, motion picture theaters in even the smaller towns have been required to install the electrical equipment necessary to present sound shows. For even a small town theater, the cost of installing a sound reproducing machine is in the neighborhood of $1500. That is a considerable capital investment for the owner of a small theater to make. He must sell a lot of tickets to pay for the equipment.

Next, producers have had to change their whole schemes of production. Actually, the cost of putting on the type of picture which has been used for sound movies is less than the cost of producing the big silent spectacle like the famous Birth of a Nation and the Covered Wagon. However, it is costly to make any fundamental alteration in the conduct of a business. Shifts have to be made in the casting office, for the actor valuable for a silent picture may be useless for a sound production. Performers are under contract and, in many cases, have to be continued on the pay roll for the life of the contract even though their services can not well be utilized.

The American public always is eager for any novelty. The producers put on sound pictures, working under pressure to make deliveries. When they were ready, the independent exhibitors found that the rental prices of sound films were from 100 to 800 per cent above what they had been paying for silent films.

All summer, exhibitors have been canceling contracts where it was possible and where they have not been able to get out of them have operated at a deficit for a while and then gone out of business, totally unable to stand the net weekly loss involved.

The exhibitors have found that the first blush of novelty has worn off the talkies. The public is not fighting for opportunity to witness the new invention any longer. While rental costs have risen from 100 to 800 per cent, box office receipts have only risen in a range of from 10 to 50 per cent. Exhibitors who have watched the trend now are reluctant to make the heavy initial investment required to install the sound equipment.

Q. Where is Marion Talley's farm residence? F. S. N.
 A. Miss Marion Talley has purchased a section of land four miles north and one mile west of Levant, Kansas, in Thomas county. Miss Talley's post office will be Levant, Kansas.

Q. What can be used on radio storage battery cells to keep the salts from corroding the connecting strips? W. W. B.
 A. The Loomis Radio College says that wiping tops of cells with solution of ammonia or of bicarbonate of soda should help. It can tell you of no coating to put on top of cells to prevent creeping salts. If continual cleaning with ammonia or soda does not overcome the trouble it suggests that you empty the cells, rinse out, and refill with saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, specific gravity about 1.210 or a trifle more.

Q. When did the United States use a half-cent postage stamp with Nathan Hale's picture on it? F. H.
 A. The one-half cent Nathan Hale postage stamps were first placed on sale April 4, 1925. These are still being issued.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—This is the American paradise for the realtor and community developer. He is, in many instances, the most convincing liar for whom you ever cupped an ear and in other instances really has the stuff. The only way to avoid him is to leave town.

You meet him along the street, in public parks, the hotel lobby and often he seems to pop out of the woodwork. I actually had one rap on the bathroom door while I, wrapped in a bath towel, peeked through a slit and told him to begone. The ideal.

Once he gains an audience you are going to make a first payment down on a bungalow or you have the resistance of a wisdom tooth to dental forceps. It is a brand of high pressure salesmanship that seems to flourish nowhere else in the land.

Their approach is often amusing. This morning one engaged me on the telephone, explaining he was anxious to have me join "a community of artists" far back in the Hollywood hills. "One of the streets," he cooed, "is being named after you." Yet he confessed not a lot had been sold or a house erected.

Another dodge is to announce a prospective purchase will be in the neighborhood of some illustrious motion picture star and those who expect to borrow a cup of sugar or a lawn mower from Harold Lloyd or Corinne Griffith find their "neighbors" are two or three miles away.

However, California real estate is always offering shining examples of quick wealth and the fact so many have profited handsomely through just this sort of slick salesmanship is the lure that bags thousands who will not be so fortunate.

One of the curious twists of the real estate hoop-de-doo is the craze for hill tip homes. Once you could buy a hill for a song. Then Antonio Moreno built a castle on a Beverly hill. Now a hill is top price real estate and some are twirled so high in the clouds mail is reported delivered by eagles. Going up!

Hills to a hillbilly are so many coals to Newcastle. Hillside homes provide swell view but are about as comfortable as one of those three-legged modernistic chairs. One can ter on one floor, leaves wraps on an other, meets his host on the next, has dinner up still one more flight and as likely as not falls down four flights on his way out.

I trust I betray no deep secrets in discussing cute trick bars in many homes. They are inset in the wall. A gadget is pushed, the wall slides up, a brass rail drops down and there you are before the slickest bar you ever saw. Some are circular in the manner of the Paris bistro and nothing is neglected. There is a refrigeration plant turning out cubes of ice, also mechanical drink shakers, glass washers, the attendants in batty white coat with his: "What'll it be, gentlemen?" and some have—in Hollywood, I hear—regular bouncers.

Old timers who used to know a T-Bone steak down to the initial at T-Bone Riley's, will be pleased to know he has opened up again. "T-Bone Riley of Los Angeles, Cal.," has been glorified in songs, poems and books on the West Coast. He dropped out of sight several years ago but has come back again with a new steaky that is a Roney.

The New York idea of a steak is the big juicy cut of sirloin at $4 to $5 a copy. There are, too, plenty of thinly sliced "minute steaks" but I have yet to discover the T-Bone save on the Bowery. It should top the meat list daily at the Ritz, Colony, Pierre's and other fashionable cafes. Rightly cooked, no other meat touches it.

This afternoon I called on Roy Howard's mother who proudly showed me an automobile just received today from her illustrious son. I did not tell her, but I knew him when he cut his own hair, swiped my cigarettes and could not have made first payment on a second hand velocipede.

Restaurant waiters are extremely friendly. A New York friend, however, seems annoyed by their familiarity. At lunch today he finally said to the garrulous garcon: "Pull up a chair and join us." But even that didn't stop him.

General Lejeune's Retirement.
 Men may come and men may go and the marines will go on forever, but so closely has the name of Lejeune been identified with that of the marines that it is hard to think of one without the other. The retirement of "Old Indian" after a brilliant record of forty-five years, all but six of them spent in the uniform of a marine, leaves a vacancy in the ranks that time alone can fill.

General Lejeune's military career has been full of action. He commanded the marine detachment aboard the Cincinnati during the Spanish-American war. He saw service in the Philippines, in Panama, and he led the first marines ashore at Vera Cruz in 1914. In France he made the marine brigade of the Second division the best-known American unit overseas, and he led the Second division through the battles in the Champagne, at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne that gave it a never-to-be-forgotten record. His chest was covered with medals when he came back to Washington and received the appointment from President Wilson as major general commandant of the Marine Corps. And in peace he demonstrated the fine qualities of leadership and administrative ability that had carried him far as a combat leader. The high efficiency and morale of the Marine Corps merely reflected the enthusiasm and vigor of their chieftain.

General Lejeune has retired, but not from the service of his country. His selection as superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute furnishes him with a great opportunity to lead and inspire for many years to come the young men at V. M. I. and to turn them out into the world with something of that cocky assurance and self-reliance that shapes the square shoulders of a blue-coated marine. —Washington Star.

Has Your Mind Grown?
 As you move along through life what is your outlook?

Which impresses you most, the good or the bad traits of individuals? Considering your own life, does the future look drab and increasingly dreary?

Is oncoming old age a tragedy to you?

It is now impossible for you to enjoy physically, the things you once thought gave you the most pleasure in life.

It is equally as impossible for you to enjoy the things within the range of your physical strength.

In other words, you have failed in mind desires with the years.

You are still thinking thoughts you had many years ago.

And because your mind has not developed beyond your youth, you cannot adapt yourself to mature pleasures.

Are you still a boy or a girl? Why don't you grow up? Get into your class or you're foolish.

You should be a matured human being, a blessing to those around you. Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

Goldwyn-Mayer 100 per cent dialogue film.

The famous star who created the title role in "Alias Jimmy Valentine" on the stage and triumphed on the screen in "Sorrel and Son" and "The Ten Commandments," was chosen by Bayard Veiller, the famous playwright who wrote "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and who directed the screen version, for the important part after more than twenty tests had been made of other players.

The picturization of the famous Veiller murder drama is Warner's second talkie venture, "The Doctor's Secret" having been his initial experience at the microphone. His strong recording voice and histrionic ability made him an ideal candidate for the role.

Norma Shearer plays the leading feminine part, that of the Broadway show girl who goes on trial for murder. The all-star supporting cast includes Raymond Hackett, Lewis Stone, Lilyan Tashman, Dewitt Jennings, Mary Doran, Clive Tell and others of note on both the stage and the screen.

ALL-STAR CAST AT AMERICAN

A man-hunting woman in the land of man-eating lions is the central figure in the plot of "A Dangerous Woman." Paramount all-talking picture directed by Rowland V. Lee which comes to the American theater today for a three-day run.

Bacanova, the dynamic Russian actress, who was last seen and heard in the George Bancroft success, "The Wolf of Wall Street" plays the title role in this tale of three white men and one white woman in the jungle region of Africa East of the Congo.

The story has a gripping plot in which Bacanova tangles the romantic yearnings of the men into twisted disappointments amidst the mystic background of the steaming, matted jungle with its native tribesmen and weird, aboriginal dances.

Splendid support is given by Clive Brook, Neil Hamilton and Leslie Fenton as the white representatives of the British government in this strange little out-post of civilization. A large personnel of Negroes is cast in the picture to furnish the tribal atmosphere.

The strange universal language of the dark continent, "Swahili" is used throughout the film sequences, the entire cast having studied the language for several weeks previous to the camera and sound recordings of the production. It is the first time "Swahili" has ever been reproduced on the audible screen.

People of France ate nearly 63,000,000 pounds of American dried fruits last year.

A village hall built entirely by one man to seat 250 people was recently opened at Measbury, England.

WILLIAM BOYD ON STATE BILL

William Boyd as a talking picture star seems destined to eclipse even the great popularity of William Boyd as a star of the silent drama, judging from advance reports on "High Voltage." Boyd's new Pathe dialogue attraction, which is announced as the feature of the new program at the State theater starting today.

"High Voltage" differs from the general run of talking pictures, it is said, in that it is primarily a good screen drama. With the addition of sound and dialogue it is hailed as "one hundred per cent entertainment" and William Boyd's deep, clear voice and southern drawl, has been termed by the critics as the outstanding discovery of the talking pictures.

"High Voltage" tells a dramatic story of six persons of widely different character and temperaments, who are marooned in a wayside chapel in the High Sierras, when the motor bus in which they are riding becomes snow-bound. One is a deputy sheriff, another is an underworld moll whom he has captured, while the others are a wealthy banker, a young girl who is hurrying east to be married, and an eternally optimistic bus driver. These persons are thrown together in a mutual cause when they face starvation, but the loves and hates and weaknesses and strengths of each character is vividly brought to the fore through the unusual circumstances which surround them.

In "High Voltage" Boyd appears in one of the virile roles for which he is famous, while Owen Moore, Carol Lombard, Diane Ellis, Billy Bevan and Phillips Smalley are all said to exhibit their mastery of the new talking picture technique.

Believed to be the largest in the world, a motor lifeboat just built at Cowes, England, is 61 feet long and has cabin accommodations for nearly 50, with room for 300 people on deck in calm weather.

IN the photograph above are a group of new Standard Oil of Ohio employees at the training station at 89th Street and Carnegie Avenue, Cleveland.

Many such training stations are scattered throughout the State. Here new service station employees are instructed in Sohio standards of service and courtesy; here they are taught, by veterans in the service of this great Ohio institution, what the organization of their fellow workers has established as standard practice for Sohio employees.

In this group of young men may be Standard Oil executives of the future. A number of the Company's officials have risen to their present positions from service station pump and grease rack. Every effort is made to help the capable and the ambitious Sohioan to promotion.

Notice the courteous attention to your needs shown by Sohio station attendants. These men are enthusiastically working for promotion. In the manufacturing departments, in our great Cleveland, Toledo and Latonia refineries the same enthusiasm exists. This, perhaps, more than any other single factor, is responsible for the inherent superiority of Standard Oil of Ohio products.

Death of O. H. Sebring

The sudden death of O. H. Sebring, who has been identified with the American ceramic industry for nearly a half century, proved as much of a shock to East Liverpool as it did to the Mahoning county town which he founded, for he was a native of the Pottery City.

As the eldest member of the family, he was active in the operation of the pottery which bore the Sebring name in East Liverpool before he established his home just over the Columbiana county line 30 years ago. And no small part of the credit for the success of the Sebring interests was attributed to him.

With his brothers he organized the Oliver China company, the first industry in Sebring. And their interests expanded in the establishment of other ceramic plants and allied industries. And, too, he was one of the chief figures in the recently organized American Chinaware corporation, a $25,000,000 merger of eastern Ohio potteries, including two in East Liverpool.

Mr. Sebring was a man of sterling Christian character and exemplified it in his business. His death is a great loss to the town of Sebring in particular and to the pottery industry in general.

Eating a Way To Health

If the consensus of opinion of the delegates to the convention of the American Medical association in Portland, Oregon, may be taken as authority, many people who are eating their way into the grave may, by a change of diet, eat their way into many years of extended usefulness.

One of the speakers revealed that a great majority of his ailing patients were such because of eating improper foods.

Dr. Morris Fishblin, of Chicago, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, made a special point of the need of care in his diet which the man of fifty should exercise. "At fifty," he said, "the average man may look forward to living just past seventy. But if he watches his diet, and observes the simple rules of hygiene, he shall live from five to seven and a half years longer. If you would live until seventy-five instead of seventy, watch your dinner plate."

Dr. Lowell Langstroth, of San Francisco who has become prominent in his profession because of his dietary researches, told of his study of 501 cases which, he said, represented a cross section of American life, and he gave figures showing how these cases, which included high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, rheumatism, diabetes, heart disease and a number of cases of unexplained headaches, had been greatly improved by the corrective diet. Referring to the 501 cases, he said:

"Bread, meat, potatoes, all forms of sweet dessert, and the accessory foods, butter, cream, sugar, and mayonnaise, formed the bulk of the average diet, actually seventy-nine per cent. Bread and butter were the largest single items, sixteen and seventeen per cent, respectively. For the most part, these foods are naturally or artificially concentrated and free from residue, and at least the bread and meat have an acid ash. With exception of butter and cream, they are vitamin poor."

"The protective foods formed twelve per cent of the average diet. The commonest of these are eggs, milk, fruit, vegetables and lettuce. The vitamins which they contain so abundantly have been shown by animal experiments to be necessary for growth, reproduction, and the prevention of the common degenerative diseases mentioned."

Throughout the convention there was not a dissenting voice to the manifestly general view of the assembled physicians that the day of the "pill-vending" doctor is passing and that of the "physician-dietitian" is dawning.

June Brides And July Wives

Where are the sweet-faced, blushing brides who walked down the church aisles during the month of June to kneel at the marriage altar and there be taken unto various and sundry young men as wives? No longer at the altar, no longer at the church, but surely somewhere. Where?

One hint comes from a cooking expert who states that the great problem which the new wife has to meet and conquer is that of finding cooking recipes designed to answer the needs of two persons. Halving, or otherwise dividing culinary formulae that call for pieces of butter the size of a walnut or as much flour as can be heaped on a tablespoon is a process demanding mathematical precision and fame waits to drape the shoulders of the man or woman who will compile a cook book couched in understandable terms for the newlywed pair. The bride's temper and the bridegroom's digestion will both profit.

Yes, it is not difficult to find the June bride, even as late as the latter part of the month of July. With the exception of these few brides of the wealthy who will miss all the joys of learning how to keep house and administer to the wants of the scrupulous male, she may be found secure and happy in her first home, busy with the little cares of her wilfully adopted sphere of existence. She may be a little disillusioned, but it is fully as possible that the events of the first few months have merely served to build up greater illusions.

Her arms and hands, which may never have known the hardships of domestic labor before, will bear a few scars, some cuts gained in their clumsy efforts to adapt themselves to new tasks, and some painful burns from the oven door, or the kettle lid. Lucky indeed are the June bridegrooms who succeeded in finding permanent housekeepers and helpmeets who did not have to go through the slow process of "breaking in," but were already trained in the duties of their new existence. They are few, but rumor has it that they still exist.

The June brides are learning how to live, how to support themselves and a helpless male in the home. They are doing one of the most important jobs in the world. They draw the sympathy and the envy of all mankind for the hugeness of their task.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 25.—Not a thriller on the screen is causing movie audiences more excitement, suspense, and perplexity than what is being experienced by the men who make the movies. Enough, perhaps, has been written of the difficulties which the actors and actresses have been encountering as a result of the transition from silent to sound pictures. The public has heard plenty of stories about how stars of the silent screen are finding themselves out of jobs because their speaking and singing voices are not adapted to the talkies. It is known that several foreign stars who shone in the Hollywood firmament have had to return to Europe because they could not adequately speak the English language.

But, while heartburnings and disappointments have accompanied these personal results of the change, the most profound disturbance has occurred in connection with the business side of the movies, both as to producers and distributors. The entire industry finds itself in the most involved difficulties it ever has encountered—and all because the wheel of progress has brought around the sound picture.

Those who today are in the most dire straits are the class known as the independent exhibitors. These are owners of motion picture houses in the various communities of the United States from large cities down to the small-town, open-air movie shows. They have been caught in the cogs of the grinding wheels of progress and are rapidly succumbing. At least one hundred motion picture houses are closing every week.

The motion picture industry, like every mushroom industry which grows overnight from a small, experimental business into a gigantic one, has developed in a somewhat disorganized manner. Producers have acted without regard to each other; distributors have done somewhat similarly; and as to the exhibitors, until recently it has been a case of every man for himself. The result, inevitably, has been a lack of organization to meet the revolutionary transition from silent to sound pictures.

Will Hays, former Postmaster General of the United States and now head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, has been called the czar, the supreme arbiter of the movie industry. He is recognized as one of the most highly skilled negotiators and arbitrators in the United States, qualified to settle almost any problem. He has functioned successfully in many movie crises but has never been confronted by a situation such as now exists. The whole motion picture industry has its eyes upon him and so would the general public have been informed of the tremendous drama taking place behind the scenes in the industry.

This is what has been and now is happening. With the advent of the synchronized talking pictures, the public nearly everywhere has demanded them. In order to hold their business, motion picture theaters in even the smaller towns have been required to install the electrical equipment necessary to present sound shows. For even a small town theater, the cost of installing a sound reproducing machine is in the neighborhood of $1500. That is a considerable capital investment for the owner of a small theater to make. He must sell a lot of tickets to pay for the equipment.

Next, producers have had to change their whole schemes of production. Actually, the cost of putting on the type of picture which has been used for sound movies is less than the cost of producing the big silent spectacle like the famous Birth of a Nation and the Covered Wagon. However, it is costly to make any fundamental alteration in the conduct of a business. Shifts have to be made in the casting office, for the actor valuable for a silent picture may be useless for a sound production. Performers are under contract and, in many cases, have to be continued on the pay roll for the life of the contract even though their services can not well be utilized.

The American public always is eager for any novelty. The producers put on sound pictures, working under pressure to make deliveries. When they were ready, the independent exhibitors found that the rental prices of sound films were from 100 to 800 per cent above what they had been paying for silent films.

All summer, exhibitors have been canceling contracts where it was possible and where they have not been able to get out of them have operated at a deficit for a while and then gone out of business, totally unable to stand the net weekly loss involved. The exhibitors have found that the first blush of novelty has worn off the talkies. The public is not fighting for opportunity to witness the new invention any longer. While rental costs have risen from 100 to 800 per cent, box office receipts have only risen in a range of from 10 to 50 per cent. Exhibitors who have watched the trend now are reluctant to make the heavy initial investment required to install the sound equipment.

Q. Where is Marion Talley's farm residence? F. S. N.
 A. Miss Marion Talley has purchased a section of land four miles north and one mile west of Levant, Kansas, in Thomas county. Miss Talley's post office will be Levant, Kansas.

Q. What can be used on radio storage battery cells to keep the salts from corroding the connecting strips? W. W. R.
 A. The Leomin Radio College says that wiping tops of cells with solution of ammonia or of bicarbonate of soda should help. It can tell you of no coating to put on top of cells to prevent creeping salts. If continual cleaning with ammonia or soda does not overcome the trouble it suggests that you empty the cells, rinse out, and refill with saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, specific gravity about 1.210 or a trifle more.

Q. When did the United States use a half-cent postage stamp with Nathan Hale's picture on it? F. H.
 A. The one-half cent Nathan Hale postage stamps were first placed on sale April 4, 1925. These are still being issued.

Q. How much does Mayor Jimmy Walker weigh? M. M.
 A. Mayor Walker's normal weight is 125 pounds.

Q. What is agar-agar? H. V. R.
 A. Agar-agar is a vegetable gelatin derived from a number of East Indian seaweeds. It is sent to the United States in thin transparent sheets, shreds, or sticks, from China and Japan.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—This is the American paradise for the realtor and community developer. He is, in many instances, the most convincing liar for whom you ever cupped an ear and in other instances really has the stuff. The only way to avoid him is to leave town.

You meet him along the street, in public parks, the hotel lobby and often he seems to pop out of the woodwork. I actually had one rap on the bathroom door while I, wrapped in a bath towel, peeked through a slit and told him to begone. The idea!

Once he gains an audience you are going to make a first payment down on a bungalow or you have the resistance of a wisdom tooth to dental forceps. It is a brand of high pressure salesmanship that seems to flourish nowhere else in the land.

Their approach is often amusing. This morning one snagged me on the telephone, explaining he was anxious to have me join "a community of artists" far back in the Hollywood "is being named for you." Yet he confessed not a lot had been sold or a house erected.

Another dodge is to announce a prospective purchase will be in the neighborhood of some illustrious motion picture star and those who expect to borrow a cup of sugar or a lawn mower from Harold Lloyd or Corinne Griffith find their "neighbors" are two or three miles away.

However, California real estate is always offering shining examples of quick wealth and the fact so many have profited handsomely through just this sort of slick salesmanship is the lure that bags thousands who will not be so fortunate.

One of the curious twists of the real estate hoop-de-doo is the craze for hill tip homes. Once you could buy a hill for a song. Then Antonio Moreno built a castle on a Beverly hill. Now a hill is top price real estate and some are twirled so high in the clouds mail is reported delivered by eagles. Going up!

Hills to a hill-billy are so many coals to Newcastle. Hillside homes provide swell views but are about as comfortable as one of those three-legged modernistic chairs. One enters on one floor, leaves wraps on another, meets his host on the next, has dinner up still one more flight and as likely as not falls down four flights on his way out.

I trust I betray no deep secrets in discussing cute trick bars in many homes. They are inset in the wall. A gadget is pushed, the wall slides up, a brass rail drops down and there you are before the slickest bar you ever saw. Some are circular in the manner of the Paris bistro and nothing is neglected. There is a refrigeration plant turning out cubes of ice, also mechanical drink shakers, glass washers, the attendants in natty white coat with his "What'll it be, gentlemen?" and some have—in Hollywood, I hear—regular bouncers.

Old timers who used to gnaw a T-Bone steak down to the initial at T-Bone Riley's, will be pleased to know he has opened up again. "T-Bone Riley of Los Angeles, Cal.," has been glorified in songs, poems and books on the West Coast. He dropped out of sight several years ago but has come back again with a new steakery that is a Roney.

The New York idea of a steak is the big juicy cut of sirloin at $4 to $5 a copy. There are, too, plenty of thinly sliced "minute steaks" but I have yet to discover the T-Bone save on the Bowery. It should top the meat list daily at the Ritz, Colony, Pierre's and other fashionable cafes. Rightly cooked, no other meat touches it.

This afternoon I called on Roy Howard's mother who proudly showed me an automobile just received today from her illustrious son. I did not tell her, but I knew him when he cut his own hair, swiped my cigarettes and could not have made first payment on a second hand velotipede.

Restaurant waiters are extremely friendly. A New York friend, however, seems annoyed by their familiarity. At lunch today he finally said to the garrulous garcon: "Pull up a chair and join us." But even that didn't stop him. Copyright, 1929, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

General Lejeune's Retirement.

Men may come and men may go and the marines will go on forever, but so closely has the name of Lejeune been identified with that of the marines that it is hard to think of one without the other. The retirement of "Old Indian" after a brilliant record of forty-five years, all but six of them spent in the uniform of a marine, leaves a vacancy in the ranks that time alone can fill.

General Lejeune's military career has been full of action. He commanded the marine detachment aboard the Cincinnati during the Spanish-American war. He saw service in the Philippines, in Panama and he led the first marines ashore at Vera Cruz in 1914. In France he made the marine brigade of the Second division the best-known American unit overseas, and he led the Second division through the battles in the Champagne, at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne that gave it a never-to-be-forgotten record.

His chest was covered with medals when he came back to Washington and received the appointment from President Wilson as major general commandant of the Marine Corps. And in peace he demonstrated the fine qualities of leadership and administrative ability that had carried him far as a combat leader. The high efficiency and morale of the Marine Corps merely reflected the enthusiasm and vigor of their chief.

General Lejeune has retired, but not from the service of his country. His selection as superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute furnishes him with a great opportunity to lead and inspire for many years to come the young men at V. M. I. and to turn them out into the world with something of that cocky assurance and self-reliance that shapes the square shoulders of a blue-coated marine. —Washington Star.

The story has a gripping plot in which Bacalanova tangles the romantic yearnings of the men into twisted disappointments amidst the mystic background of the steaming, matted jungle with its native tribesmen and weird, aboriginal dances.

Splendid support is given by Clive Brook, Neil Hamilton and Leslie Fenton as the white representatives of the British government in this strange little out-post of civilization. A large personnel of Negroes is cast in the picture to furnish the tribal atmosphere.

The strange universal language of the dark continent, "Swahili" is used throughout the film sequences, the entire cast having studied the language for several weeks previous to the camera and sound recordings of the production. It is the first time "Swahili" has ever been reproduced on the audible screen.

People of France ate nearly 63,000,000 pounds of American dried fruits last year.

A village hall built entirely by one man to seat 250 people was recently opened at Measbury, England.

WILLIAM BOYD ON STATE BILL

William Boyd as a talking picture star seems destined to eclipse even the great popularity of William Boyd as a star of the silent drama, judging from advance reports on "High Voltage." Boyd's new Pathe dialogue attraction, which is announced as the feature of the new program at the State theater starting today.

"High Voltage" differs from the general run of talking pictures, it is said, in that it is primarily a good screen drama. With the addition of sound and dialogue it is hailed as "one hundred per cent entertainment" and William Boyd's deep, clear voice and southern drawl, has been termed by the critics as the outstanding discovery of the talking pictures.

"High Voltage" tells a dramatic story of six persons of widely different character and temperaments, who are marooned in a wayside chapel in the High Sierras, when the motor bus in which they are riding becomes snow-bound. One is a deputy sheriff, another is an underworld moll whom he has captured, while the others are a wealthy banker, a young girl who is hurrying east to be married, and an eternally optimistic bus driver. These persons are thrown together in a mutual cause when they face starvation, but the loves and hates and weaknesses and strengths of each character is vividly brought to the fore through the unusual circumstances which surround them.

In "High Voltage" Boyd appears in one of the virile roles for which he is famous, while Owen Moore, Carol Lombard, Diane Ellis, Billy Bevan and Phillips Smalley are all said to exhibit their mastery of the new talking picture technique.

Believed to be the largest in the world, a motor lifeboat just built at Cowes, England, is 61 feet long and has cabin accommodations for nearly 50, with room for 300 people on deck in calm weather.

The Standard Oil Co.

T Training schools fit the new SOHIOAN for larger responsibilities; teach him SOHIO standards of service

IN the photograph above are a group of new Standard Oil of Ohio employees at the training station at 89th Street and Carnegie Avenue, Cleveland.

Many such training stations are scattered throughout the State. Here new service station employees are instructed in Sohio standards of service and courtesy; here they are taught, by veterans in the service of this great Ohio institution, what the organization of their fellow workers has established as standard practice for Sohio employees.

In this group of young men may be Standard Oil executives of the future. A number of the Company's officials have risen to their present positions from service station pump and grease rack. Every effort is made to help the capable and the ambitious Sohioan to promotion.

Notice the courteous attention to your needs shown by Sohio station attendants. These men are enthusiastically working for promotion. In the manufacturing departments, in our great Cleveland, Toledo and Latonia refineries the same enthusiasm exists. This, perhaps, more than any other single factor, is responsible for the inherent superiority of Standard Oil of Ohio products.

500 MEMBERS ATTEND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OUTING AT THOMPSON PARK

WITH IDEAL WEATHER prevailing, 500 members of the congregation and Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church, West Fourth street, attended their annual outing at Thompson park yesterday. Children competed in races while adults played horseshoes. The day's activities culminated with a baseball game between the married and single men. The game was won by the bachelors, 6 to 5. Robert Witherow captained the winners. Lee Persohn piloted the married men.

Dinner was served in the pavilion. At 6:45 o'clock, the weekly prayer service was held in the open. It was led by the Rev. J. H. Lawther, D. D., the pastor. The singing was directed by Oliver Johnson.

Children were given a genuine surprise at dusk when six elephant balloons were released. They remained in the air for an hour.

The races were directed by Frederick Laufenberger, John McShane and Homer Huston. Mrs. Claude Smith, assisted by Mrs. John Golden, headed the table committee.

During the dinner, a 15-piece band, directed by Harold Allison, played. The food was served by young girls who are members of the Sunday school class taught by Mrs. J. H. Lawther.

El Simplezo Club Entertained. Members of the El Simplezo club were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Shaw, Louisiana avenue, Chester. The social hours were spent with music and needlework. Mrs. C. E. Rimmell of Carnegie, Pa., a guest, gave vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Shaw.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Gertrude. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, October 2, at the home of Mrs. Roy Baxter, Armstrong lane.

PATTERN 1741
The Review 15c Practical Pattern

The sleeveless, tucked blouse is the last word in the fashion world. Design 1741 consists of just such a blouse and a smartly pleated skirt with snug hip band cleverly shaped and buttoned in front.

Contrasting materials would be charming for this outfit. Pique for the skirt and bodice trimming, fine linen or silk crepe for the blouse. All white, colored skirt and white blouse or plain and printed fabrics, are just a few suggestions for the development of this model.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26 and 28.

Size 16 requires 1 3/8 yards blouse fabric and 2 1/4 yards skirt fabric, each 40 inches in width.

This model is easy to make. No dressmaking experience is necessary. Each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions, including yardage for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our LATEST FASHION BOOK will be sent upon receipt of TEN CENTS in coin. Address all mail and orders to The Review Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

How's this for a hot-weather dinner?

One of these evenings, when you're exhausted from the heat and nothing tastes good, how would you like to sit down to a dinner like this? An ice-cold fruit cup, jellied chicken and ham, a salad of crisp lettuce with a stuffed tomato in aspic. And, for dessert, a strawberry sundae.

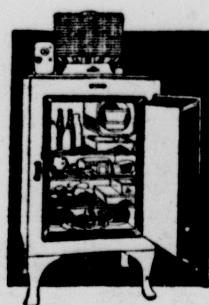

Tempting, isn't it? And so pleasantly easy to prepare. Then your General Electric Refrigerator will do the rest.

Fifty degrees is accepted by scientists as the "danger point" in the preservation of food. When the temperature rises even a degree or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat—a menace to health. In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is automatically kept several degrees below fifty—always.

Now, in addition to all its previously proved superiorities, General Electric offers an all-steel warp-proof cabinet! There are now more than 300,000 General Electric Refrigerator users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs.

Prices on the new all-steel models start at $215 at the factory. See them at our display rooms.

PLYMOUTH
AMERICA'S LOWEST-PRICED FULL-SIZE CAR

IN WASHINGTON, the government presses are turning out smaller dollar bills. In Detroit, the huge Plymouth plant, largest of its kind in the world, is turning out a motor car that makes the dollar bigger in purchasing power than it ever was.

Not in all automobile history has another such value appeared in the low-priced field.

There has never been another low-priced car to compare with the improved Plymouth in full-size roominess—in Chrysler-designed stylishness—in Chrysler-like briskness and smoothness—in ruggedness of construction—in safety—in all-around quality and ability.

Big body, big engine, big chassis, big axles, big 4-75 tires, big internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes—in every respect, Plymouth is the biggest thing in its class. Compare—you'll be astonished how big in value Plymouth has made the dollar.

Coupe, $655; Roadster (with rumble seat), $675; 2-Door Sedan, $675; Touring, $695; De Luxe Coupe (with rumble seat), $695; 4-Door Sedan, $695. All prices f.o.b. factory. Plymouth dealers extend the convenience of time payments.

It's here and you must see it! If you lack the accommodation that an extra bed-room affords, so much the better. This new Simmons davenport bed at The Frank Crook Co. will surely stir your enthusiasm. Unquestionably, it is a piece of furniture that will bring honor to any well-appointed living room, one that will endear itself quite as much by its good looks, as by its good looks. In designing this model, grace, beauty and comfort were first considerations. It is upholstered in fine quality taupe mohair, has the artistic spooled arms and comes in two sizes.

With the new Charles of the Ritz preparations, you can now give yourself the identical beauty treatments for which New York's most fascinating women go to the exclusive Ritz salons. You can obtain every one of the many beauty aids by this well-known artist, at OGLVIE'S. And just a word about the powder. Miss Taylor will blend a powder specially for you, one that will harmonize with your skin tone and enhance its loveliness. Charles of the Ritz makes a powder of absolute purity, finely textured and delicately perfumed. You will be delighted with it.

If you want to see some sweaters that are quite out of the ordinary, some nifty golf knickers and hose that would delight the heart of any man who takes pride in a well-groomed appearance, then with a grand gesture, we lead you to Frank Diamond's Haberdashery. While you're there be sure to look at that collection of shirts. We think it an unusually fine display of dress and sports shirts. There's no such thing as not finding your size or your favorite color.

When you're homeward bound after a strenuous round of shopping, visiting the dentist and having the children's hair cut, isn't it a grand and glorious feeling just to know there's an appetizing salad and a favorite dessert all ready to be served? True, they were prepared the day before but they would be just as delicious a week from now, if left in your refrigerator. That's only one of its many fine features. The Cold Control, a new device that makes possible the freezing of salads and desserts in a minimum of time, is another advantage. Visit The Crockery City Ice & Products Co. tomorrow. See the models now on display and make arrangements for owning the one of your choice. You'll find it a real joy these warm summer days.

Sometime ago I was asked, "Why don't you tell folks something about Northside business activities. All the best grocery stores aren't in the downtown section of the City." "Tell your readers," this friend continued to dictate, that Mrs. F. E. McGart owns and manages one of the very nicest and cleanest grocery stores in the entire vicinity, that nothing but the highest quality merchandise is carried in her store and when it comes to prompt, courteous service, well, Mrs. McGart is an artist, that's all." No one knows that better than I do. I heartily agreed, and between you and me, every one's going to hear more about it.

When you feel languid, lagging, dull and all but out of sorts, you know there's something wrong and being an intelligent person, you consult a physician to discover just what that something is, then follow his prescribed treatment. Did you ever think that your car has its human side also? When it's abused and neglected it has a way of expressing its feelings. It lags along, chugs and knocks in a most irritating manner. Peeves you, of course it does, but just hold your temper long enough to search your memory. Been a long time, hasn't it since you treated it to any crank-case service at Milliron's Grease Palace? No machine can get along without such service, as Grease Palace offers.—Adv.

Club Outing Held at Park.

A picnic was held by members of the Friendly Art club Tuesday afternoon and evening at Rock Springs park. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, with Mesdames Harold Allison and Elwyn Shenkle in charge. Covers were arranged for 15.

Members of the club presented Mrs. Isaac Edgell of Idaho avenue, Pleasant Heights, with a gift. Mrs. Edgell will leave Monday for a visit in Kansas City.

Radio Orchestra at Rock Springs.

Harry Diekmann and his Illinois Singing band, radio broadcasters, will be presented at Virginia Gardens, Rock Springs park, Saturday night. This orchestra is the musical champion of the "Big Ten."

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug. Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

AGED PARENTS OF THEORA HIX AT SNOOK TRIAL

Dramatic Highlight is Furnished by Silver-haired Couple. EYES ON JURORS Hear Lawyers Say Unkind Things About Daughter.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—The dramatic highlight of the Snook murder trial so far is provided not by the defendant himself but an elderly, silver-haired couple in the twilight of life—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin T. Hix.

Again today they sat side by side in a crowded courtroom listening to the tedious task of jury selection and hearing lawyers say things about the daughter they idolized that must be like knife thrusts to the heart.

By nightfall the jury probably will have been selected to try Dr. James H. Snook, a college professor of "the dangerous age," for the sensational slaying of Miss Theora Hix, beautiful young Ohio State university co-ed.

Seven jurors—four women and three men—had been tentatively accepted when court was called to order this morning.

Snook Draws Little Attention.

But, strangely enough, as this unusual trial with its "college background" unfolds itself it is not Snook, the smug looking defendant, who is drawing the attention of the spectators who, by the way, are mostly young girls—possibly some of them co-eds themselves. It is the old couple. They are tugging at the heart strings of all.

There Mr. and Mrs. Hix sit, in the front row, just outside the prisoner's dock—twenty paces from Snook, the man who caused the cataclysm to break over the quiet cycle of their declining years.

Hix glares at Snook but Snook does not seem to notice him. Mrs. Hix sits with bowed head, tears in her dimming eyes.

Explains Name "Theora."

At times Hix, himself a retired public school principal of New York City, almost leaps from his chair when one of the attorneys mentions a "love nest" and hints that his daughter and Dr. Snook during the course of their "affair" used drugs.

"Theora! What an unusual name. Mr. Hix, in a quivering voice, will explain to you the meaning of "Theora." He gave his child that name himself. That was 25 years ago when he was teaching Greek and Latin. He wanted to give his baby a name that would be distinctly individual. So he chose "Theora" which in Greek means "God given."

Ah, this couldn't be the girl that they are talking about this way. They had reared their child so carefully—sent her through high school, to a seminary and finally to Ohio State, a place where they felt sure she would be free from temptation and where she could obtain the medical education she cherished.

Deplore Murder Trial Publicity.

The Hixes deplore all the publicity their dead daughter is receiving. But what can they do? Here they are, people who never had their names in the papers before, pushed smack in to the limelight—the pictures in all the papers and the past of their child dug up and revealed in its most sordid details through the medium of a murder trial.

For no murder case in the history of this enterprising college town has ever caused such a sensation. The Columbus newspapers are publishing verbatim accounts of the court proceedings, devoting page after page to the trial. A battery of 33 correspondents sit at three long press tables sending out to the world all essential details of the case.

The state of Ohio has four prosecutors engaged in the task of seeing to it that justice is done. Three attorneys, the best obtainable, have been employed in the defense of Snook. The town is in its ears, so to speak, and over at the university reverberations can be heard. The Snook case is the scandal of years.

How the Hixes wish they had never allowed their daughter out of their sight—to leave home in the quest of higher education! Over and over again they ask themselves the question: "Could it be possible, as careful as we were, that we failed somehow in rearing our child? Or was fate maliciously unkind to us in our declining years?"

Airmen at Greater Height.

"Everything going fine" was the latest message from the trail blazers of the sky. "We will stay up as long as there is any run left in this motor."

That attitude is pleasing to the sponsors of the flight is evident from the statement of Major William B. Robertson, head of the company conducting the flight. "It is the boys wish to set a new endurance record," he said, "and we have no intention of stopping them."

The plane is flying at a greater height than during the first week in the air. The pilots explained in notes that the motor functioned more smoothly at a height of 3,000 feet and by flying high the pilots were safeguarding their record.

To make their flight an official record, the plane must land at the same field from which it took off. In case the engine develops sudden trouble, making necessary a forced landing, the "St. Louis Robin" can glide to the field.

BRITAIN O. K.'S JAY KOFFEL NAVAL PARITY IS FINED $200

Reduction in All Classes Of Ships is Forecast.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A definite naval understanding between Great Britain and the United States, which will not only limit but actually reduce existing establishments in all classes of ships, was forecast here today as a not far distant date.

The British government of Premier Ramsay MacDonald has accepted without reservation and in its entirety the principle of naval parity between the two countries, which was proposed to him recently by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson. This acceptance is regarded here as the foundation rock upon which the agreement will be erected.

"It is a very immense and tremendous step forward," said Secretary of State Stimson today, referring to MacDonald's speech to the house of commons yesterday in which he publicly announced Britain's acceptance of complete parity.

"The United States is very much interested in this step," said Stimson.

At times Hix, himself a retired public school principal of New York City, almost leaps from his chair when one of the attorneys mentions a "love nest" and hints that his daughter and Dr. Snook during the course of their "affair" used drugs.

"Theora! What an unusual name. Mr. Hix, in a quivering voice, will explain to you the meaning of "Theora." He gave his child that name himself. That was 25 years ago when he was teaching Greek and Latin. He wanted to give his baby a name that would be distinctly individual. So he chose "Theora" which in Greek means "God given."

Ah, this couldn't be the girl that they are talking about this way. They had reared their child so carefully—sent her through high school, to a seminary and finally to Ohio State, a place where they felt sure she would be free from temptation and where she could obtain the medical education she cherished.

Deplore Murder Trial Publicity.

The Hixes deplore all the publicity their dead daughter is receiving. But what can they do? Here they are, people who never had their names in the papers before, pushed smack in to the limelight—the pictures in all the papers and the past of their child dug up and revealed in its most sordid details through the medium of a murder trial.

For no murder case in the history of this enterprising college town has ever caused such a sensation. The Columbus newspapers are publishing verbatim accounts of the court proceedings, devoting page after page to the trial. A battery of 33 correspondents sit at three long press tables sending out to the world all essential details of the case.

The state of Ohio has four prosecutors engaged in the task of seeing to it that justice is done. Three attorneys, the best obtainable, have been employed in the defense of Snook. The town is in its ears, so to speak, and over at the university reverberations can be heard. The Snook case is the scandal of years.

How the Hixes wish they had never allowed their daughter out of their sight—to leave home in the quest of higher education! Over and over again they ask themselves the question: "Could it be possible, as careful as we were, that we failed somehow in rearing our child? Or was fate maliciously unkind to us in our declining years?"

Akron Wars Against Slot Machines.

AKRON, O., July 25.—(INS)—A war against slot machines was under way here today following the issuance of 18 warrants against officials of the Westlake Vending Company.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

By W. S. COUSINS,

NEW YORK, July 25.—After a short reactionary period during the first hour in which industrial and specialty stocks floundered around in a narrow price range, the market stiffened up on short covering and investment buying today.

New advances of 2 to 4 points were scored in a few of the popular motor and specialty stocks, including Marmon Motors, up 5 1/2 to 8 1/2; Borden company up 4 1/2 to 5 1/2; Radio up 3 1/2 to 4 1/2; Columbia Gas and Electric up 2 1/2 to 3 1/2; Sinking bonds were in evidence in other sections of the market. General Motors again dipping below 68, having lost practically all the ground gained in its recent advance.

Police Seize Still, Beer And Whisky in Raid.

Jay Koffel, Church alley, was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors today before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley. The fine had not been paid at noon.

Police raided the Koffel home at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and found a still in operation. Fifty gallons of mash, 100 bottles of beer and a small quantity of whisky were confiscated.

Six persons, charged with parking code violations, were fined $2 each. They were J. L. Simpson, John Golden, Earl Wolfe, Joe McKenna, J. C. Cunningham and William Zeff.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Barbara B. Close.

Mrs. Barbara B. Close, 76, widow of Isaac Close, died today after a long illness in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Cooper, 838 Lisbon street.

She leaves two sons, Lewis Close, Salsville, and Jack J. Close, Columbus, and four daughters, Mrs. Sadie Hertle, Salsville, and Mrs. Mayme Powell, Mrs. Hazel Edgel and Mrs. Cooper of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Cooper home, in charge of the Rev. Charles R. Loney, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of which she was a member. Burial will be made in Woodlawn cemetery.

Mrs. Lon Byers.

Mrs. Lon Byers, 60, of 442 West Eighth street, died today in the City hospital.

Mrs. Byers, who had lived here for 35 years, was a member of the First Church of Christ.

Besides her husband, she leaves three sons, Lawrence, Norman and Harry; one daughter, Miss Irene Byers; seven brothers, Louis, William, Edward, Albert, Charles, Roy and Nelson Anthony, Bridgeport, O., and four sisters, Mrs. Howard Moon and Mrs. Charles Prazier, Canton; Mrs. Jesse Weir, Martins Ferry, and Mrs. Edward Betteridge, Newell, W. Va.

Funeral services will be held in the Betteridge home, Grant street, Newell, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

cially wheat gamblers, will get no body knows.

FARMERS might hire an intelligent wheat speculator to sell their crops for future delivery when prices are high. As it is, they wait until the wheat is threshed, then the price is lower.

PRESENT estimates show that the four big crops, wheat, corn, oats and rye, are worth $3,545,000,000, an increase of more than thousand million dollars in two months.

A SAVAGE outbreak of convicts in New York's Clinton prison is easily explained.

Too many "life" and "long term" prisoners were herded together. Such men are willing to risk death because they are hopeless.

Lacking hope and its courage, you have a bad situation; Goethe said: "Money lost, something lost."

"Honor lost, much lost."

"Courage lost, everything lost, better you were never born."

THE accomplishment of the steam ship Bremen is interesting, intensely important to Germany, and at the same time disappointing. It beat the ocean record a few hours, which is not important to the general public. To cut off two days, as flying machines will soon do, then reducing the time to 10 hours as flying machines also will do, will be really important.

COLUMBUS crossed in 71 days, the Mayflower in 63, the first steamship in 26 days.

Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris, 3,600 miles, in 33 1/2 hours. That's real improvement.

Somebody will build an ocean steamship, perhaps with two hulls and multiple screws between them, to cross in 48 hours.

WATER SAFETY IS URGED BY T. EARL MOORE

Red Cross Life Saver Cites Factors in Drowning. THREE-DAY VISIT Expert Swimmer Plans Classes in Y. M. C. A. Pool.

"Carelessness, lack of information on resuscitation methods, and fear on the part of the inexperienced swimmer are the three great contributing factors to the annual death toll by drowning," T. Earl Moore, a Nashville, Tenn., American Red Cross life-saving field representative, declared today on his arrival here to give instruction to swimmers.

A wide program of education, and a few minor regulations, would cut the list of drownings from the large total of 7,300 annually, to half that figure, he believes.

Moore, who will conduct classes at the Y. M. C. A. pool today, tomorrow and Saturday, has been with the American Red Cross for seven years, after studying physical education at Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., where he is now an instructor in swimming and methods of teaching swimming and life saving. He is also studying medicine at Vanderbilt university. In addition to his work as swimming and life saving instructor and diving authority, he is known as an expert on waterfront protection, the organization and management of summer camps and swimming pool construction.

Never Swim Alone, is Advice.

All Red Cross life savers and examiners and others interested in water safety are invited to confer with Moore at the "Y" at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

"Never Swim Alone" is one slogan of the American Red Cross Life Saving campaign," Moore said. "This has led to adoption of the 'buddy' system in many swimming pools and boys' and girls' camps in the country, by which the youngsters take a pledge that they will never swim alone, but always with a buddy, and that each will always check up on his buddy at stated periods of time. This practical idea has prevented hundreds of deaths.

"A regulation which would prevent many accidents would be that boat and canoe rental concessions be compelled to inquire of their clients as to their ability to handle the craft, and whether or not they could swim. Inexperienced persons should not be permitted to rent them.

Educational Campaigns Urged.

"Only constant supervision, educational campaigns, and life saving instruction courses can cut the list of drownings especially among boys and men between the ages of 15 and 25 years. They are most guilty of the crime of carelessness, and death takes a heavy toll among them. Forty-four per cent of the victims of drowning are between these ages.

"Fear attacks the inexperienced swimmer, frequently causing him to lose his life within sight and hearing of companions. This accounts for the fact that a large percentage of the drownings occur within 20 feet of shore. Diving into water without accurate knowledge of its depth, or whether the bottom is clear of debris also accounts for many accidents."

The death rate by drowning has decreased when it is taken into consideration how many more people seek the water resorts than in past years, the Red Cross Life Saving instructor said. The best method for further decreasing the toll, he believes, is the dissemination of life-saving instruction.

Lawyers Hear Brookes

The trip across the Pacific ocean Brookes told of having traveled some 11,000 miles and narrated incidents that befell them in Hawaii, on the ocean, the Philippines, China and Japan.

Meets Former Stenographer.

"Honolulu is a progressive city of the first order," he said. "It is the only place of whom I have never seen their homeland. They are decidedly American. Their children march and sing American airs and are as patriotic as any in America. They follow the American flag with equal fervor."

He told of meeting his former stenographer, nee Florence Williams, with her husband, Walter King, in Honolulu. King is prohibition administrator there.

On one of the vessels of Robert M. Dollar, Mr. and Mrs. Brookes crossed the Pacific.

"We entered the harbor of Manila much as did Admiral Dewey when he fought his famous battle there in 1898," he said. "There were 45 American warships and other craft there."

"It is very warm in the Philippines, unpleasantly so at times. We were there long enough to observe that the people are not yet ready to govern themselves. These known as the Philippines may be. They hold a lot of offices, but there are persons with more than a hundred different dialects and languages there and these are far from being ready to indulge in self government."

"Bars seemingly flourish everywhere," he said, "and drinking is common."

He noted that the Spanish code is still in effect there and that Filipinos sit as jury trials, for even capital cases are decided by these judges. They have not progressed to the American standard of a trial by jury.

Discusses Shanghai Courts.

He outlined the different courts of England, the United States, Belgium, France and other countries which sit in Shanghai, China. "The Chinese sense of justice is not being trusted by foreign residents as yet," he declared. "They have recourse to their own courts. That for the United States is presided over by Judge Purdy, of Minnesota."

"England really leads in authority in the city. It has on duty policemen from India of whom the Chinese are greatly afraid."

He told of the customs of peddlars who pay for the privilege knocking at hotel rooms and coming right in with their packs and showing that which they have for sale to the patrons.

"Though a strange one to Americans the custom at times is mutually advantageous," he observed.

China, he declared, holds a strong feeling of suspicion and dislike for the Japanese.

Japanese Copy America.

That the Japanese in their newspaper editorials and actions show every tendency to wish for friendship with the United States despite the passage here of the exclusion act was one of the strongest impressions that were his during his stay in the country of the Mikado.

"They copy America in every thing and they are wonderfully proficient," he averred. "The captain of the ship that carried us from China to Japan, a four-day trip in which we were the only first cabin passengers, was so small that I could have placed him in my overcoat pocket, but he was efficiency itself."

He discussed the famous cherry trees of that country which he declared were beautiful while blossoming and as large as some oak trees here. "But they bear no fruit," he explained. "Whole families go to see them during this blossoming period. Indeed, I believe, I witnessed more intoxicated people viewing these trees than at any other time while in the wonderful country."

He said that the fact that the United States was the first to respond to aid the Japanese following the great earthquake a few years ago and that later every city and hamlet in the United States contributed aid went far in making for the prevailing friendly feeling. "With the residue of the fund sent to the Japanese at that time has been erected in Tokio a modern hospital which forever will be a monument to the feeling of kindness between the two nations," he maintained.

He described the operas in China and Japan and declared that they did not greatly appeal to him.

Refers To Misery in China.

He spoke of the depths of misery in which many people live in China especially when the crops fail. "They were planning to put out thousands of children on their own hook that they might plunder for food," he said while describing the situation in one of the internal provinces. "They had some hope, however, of getting somewhere funds sufficiently to tide them over, he said. "We should ever thank God that no similar conditions exist anywhere here in America."

The strange feeling of gaining a day and losing it again when crossing the 180th degree of longitude was described by him.

He noted the fine harbor at Honolulu and the fact that on it is one of the greatest army posts in America where some 12,000 troops are maintained.

Coins that he had obtained in China and the Philippines were passed out among his hearers for inspection.

On behalf of the association members, Brookes was heartily thanked by Crawford at the conclusion of his address.

"DRUG ANGLE" IS HINTED IN SNOOK CASE; CHARGE MAN WAS FED "DOPE"

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—(INS)—Hints that the "drug angle" may play an important part in the defense of Dr. James H. Snook, on trial for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, loomed today. It was hinted that Snook, in his battle to escape the electric chair, may contend that his 25-year-old paramour fed him "dope."

Defense Attorney John F. Seidel, in questioning C. S. Baird, a prospective juror, asked this question: "If it is shown that Theora Hix, from time to time, prepared and gave drugs to the defendant or that they took drugs together or if the drug or dope element enters this case in any way, would that prejudice you against the defendant?"

Baird replied in the negative.

Such a contention is opposite to previous hints of "drug angles" in the Snook-Hix case. Heretofore it had been hinted only that Dr. Snook, who had access to drugs as a veterinary surgeon, may have supplied them to Miss Hix.

she was just "jollying" the major general, but she explained that congress passed a freak law, now forgotten, making generals of all senators and representatives.

The first army corps commander was quoted as replying that the passage of such legislation "hurt the government."

Today, the congresswoman and Major General Brown were reviewing the citizens' military training camp outfit here.

Meanwhile, military officials were digging into the records to establish the exact military status of the congresswoman as a measure of future military etiquette preparedness.

CAR MEN PLAN PASSAIC BANK PUBLIC WEDDING ORDERED CLOSED

Ohioans Will Marry at Rock Springs on July 30.

A public wedding, in which the principals as well as the officiating minister will be Ohioans, will be a feature at the first annual outing of Division No. 52, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, which will be held at Rock Springs park, Chester, next Tuesday.

Arrangements for the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 9:30 a. m., were completed today. Park Manager C. C. MacDonald announced.

The bride and bridegroom will be showered with wedding gifts.

The Dutton Society circus will also stage afternoon and evening performances.

Past Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell street car employees and their families and friends will attend the outing.

SEX SUBJECTS ARE HINTED IN SNOOK DEFENSE

Eleven Jurors are Tentatively Seated at Columbus. HINT DRUG USE Prisoner's Plan of Fight Indicated in Jury Questioning.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

COURT ROOM, COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Sex subjects and "experiments with drugs to determine the human reaction," will be delved into at the trial of Dr. James H. Snook, 45-year-old college professor, for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, 25-year-old co-ed, it was indicated in court today.

In questioning Elliott P. Rexford, the eighth juror to be tentatively accepted for the jury, defense Attorney John F. Seidel said:

"Would the fact that Dr. Snook and Miss Hix had experimented with doses of drugs by administering them to see the human reaction, influence you for or against this defendant?"

"No," replied Rexford, who is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Attorney Seidel further indicated that it would be contended Miss Hix administered drugs to Snook "on the night of the crime."

Mrs. Albert Brooks, a housewife, was the tenth juror tentatively selected. When she took her seat in the jury box, the forces were divided equally, five women and five men.

Eleven jurors had been tentatively selected when court adjourned until 1:30 this afternoon.

Lisbon Chewing Gum Factory Owners Seek Damages.

NEW BRIDGE HIT

Part of Petitioner's Property on Lincoln Road.

LISBON, O., July 25. — A petition filed by former Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, on behalf of Pauline H. Nasse, asked an order to restrain the county commissioners from proceeding with the improvement of the Lincoln highway bridge spanning Beaver creek, south of Lisbon, until damages have been awarded by a jury. The hearing has been set for tomorrow afternoon.

The petitioner is the owner of property extending out on the roadway to the extent of about 15 feet, which is known as the "old chewing gum factory." One of the smaller buildings has been razed, and another was being torn down today. A portion of a third section will also be removed. The concrete floor for the new bridge has been completed, and pay-

Thin, Run-Down
Mother Quickly
Gains 5 lbs.

"I gained 5 lbs. while taking Ironized Yeast," writes Mrs. George Decker. "That means quite a bit, as my folks are both thin. What I prize most is the difference in the way I feel and the pep I have. Before I took Ironized Yeast I had to hire a girl to help me with any hard work. But now I do all my housecleaning alone."

People who had tried everything else in vain write how they gained 5 to 15 pounds in a few weeks. Skinny limbs quickly round into chubby curves. Pimply skin clears up. Tired feeling vanishes.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. Never cause gas or bloating. Safe—no harmful drugs.

ing block has been received for the surface. The village of Lisbon has appropriated $1,000 for the improvement of the road between the north end of the bridge and the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad.

It has been planned by H. C. Armstrong, contractor, to finish the new section of road on or before Aug. 15.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following real estate transfers have been filed for record:

Hallie C. Roessler to Ellsworth I. Kille, lot 997 in Appraiser's addition, Salem, $10.

Charles F. McCall to Christ Papadakis, lot 27 in Trimble Heights addition, Salem, $1.

John Lightfoot to Midway Oil Company, part of acre on Carpenter Run road, East Liverpool, $1,500; Mary Hester to Midway Oil Company, lot in Dresden avenue, East Liverpool, $5.

F. R. Pow to George T. Mossey and wife, lot 659 in Lincoln avenue, Salem, $6,365.

Emory Anderson and others to Walter B. Uring, land in Lisbon road, East Liverpool, $1.

Ellie Ross Williams to Charles A. Poole, part interest in lot 1835, East Liverpool, $45.

Suit Filed on Note.

Foreclosure proceedings have been filed in common pleas court by T. A. Richardson against Filomena Russe to secure the payment of a note for $375. The mortgage is on lot 214 in Leetonia. The note was executed June 4, 1928.

Return From Wedding Trip.

LISBON, O., July 25.—Probate Judge and Mrs. Lodge Riddle have returned from a wedding trip along the Atlantic coast. Judge Riddle will not return to his office work, however, until Aug. 5.

Increase in Chattel Mortgages.
LISBON, July 25.—The number of chattel mortgages being filed with County Recorder Paul H. Smith is nearly double the total a year ago, it was announced today. These mortgages cover automobiles and radios as well as household goods.

Jailed on Charge of Resisting Officer.
LISBON, July 25.—Charged with resisting an officer, Edward McCoy has been committed to the county jail by Mayor R. B. Clark of Lisbon in default of a fine of $50 and costs. McCoy is alleged to have struck Police man B. F. Rollins when he attempted to arrest him.

IN 18-FOOT BOAT

ST. AUGUSTINE. — Local authorities helped J. A. Foster, of West Palm Beach secure a job here after he, with his wife, a two-year-old daughter, and an eight-month-old infant, journeyed from their home in an 18-foot row boat.

The trip was made in 42 days. All were badly sun-burned and weather beaten. The children were treated at a local hospital.

FACES JURY

Richard Joshua Reynolds, 23-year-old American tobacco multi-millionaire, attracted the attention of English society to Old Bailey, today, where he is on trial on the charge of having killed a motorcyclist while driving his automobile in Buckinghamshire. Police claimed that Reynolds was inebriated. Many of the most famous British barristers are concerned in the trial.

WOMAN FALLS DEAD WHEN SHE ENTERS PRISON TO VISIT BROTHER

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—(INS)—For the first time since 1913, when the women inmates of the Ohio state penitentiary here were transferred to the then newly-constructed women's reformatory at Marysville, a woman died in the big state prison here yesterday.

She was not a prisoner, but a visitor, who was making her first visit to the penal institution, which houses more than 4,000 convicts.

In company with her husband, Andrew L. Luddy, of Clarksburg, W. Va., the woman had journeyed here from the adjoining state to see her brother, Harry L. Foreman, who is serving a term of from seven to 20 years for forgery.

Arrangements were completed for the visit of the Clarksburg woman, and she left her husband in the waiting room of the bastille and went into the "bull pen." Little did she know that it was the last time she would see her spouse.

And, she did not see her brother, either. He arrived from his cell just as the woman sighed heavily, gasped and then dropped dead, due to a heart attack.

YOU hear a lot of talk and read many statements nowadays, about how many millions of this or that tire have been sold... and why. These statements fail to point out, however, that a large percentage of all these tires are sold as "factory equipment" on popular makes of automobiles. In other words, the motorist himself has had very little to say about selecting the tire equipment of the new car he buys.

When these same motorists, however, have an opportunity to study tire quality and tire values for themselves, the story becomes somewhat different...

Take, for example, the popularity of RIVERSIDES among car-owners. This famous tire was introduced to the American public 18 years ago. Since that time RIVERSIDES have been sold to many millions of motorists throughout America. A great majority of these tires have been sold on merit alone—without any high-pressure salesmanship. And they were bought on just three points: the splendid reputation of Montgomery Ward & Co.—the definite mileage guarantees under which RIVERSIDE Tires have always been sold—and the recommendation of millions of satisfied users.

Facts like these cannot be disputed or ignored. They explain why RIVERSIDE Tires occupy a place among the leaders of the industry—and it is because of these facts that we make the claim, and back it with our guarantees, that RIVERSIDES are THE EQUAL OF ANY TIRE MADE, regardless of price. This statement we are anxious to have you prove to your own satisfaction—on your own car—the next time you are in the market for tires.

In the matter of price, RIVERSIDES, of course, save you money. Compared with the five or six other leading makes of equal quality, for example, your savings on a RIVERSIDE range from about $2 per tire (on the 29x4.40 RIVERSIDE Balloon) to $5 to $10 on larger sizes. Surely such savings merit your most careful consideration... particularly in view of the fact that when you purchase a RIVERSIDE you are protected by definite guarantees of 16,000 and 30,000 miles of service! No other make of tire in America today, backed by an organization with the responsibility of Montgomery Ward & Co., is sold under such definite mileage guarantees.

Visit our store today and see these RIVERSIDES for yourself. Note their quality construction, low price, iron-clad mileage guarantees... and buy on FACTS, not "talk."

Pipe Will Be Jacked Under Railroad Here

Contractors Start Work on Important Section of Seventeenth Street Storm Sewer; 261-foot Job.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 25.—Under the direction of a representative of the American Rolling Mills company, Middletown, preparations are being made today for jacking a 42-inch corrugated iron pipe, an important link in the Seventeenth street sewer to the river, beneath the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. Actual jacking of the pipe, with a 250-ton on the jacking end, will start within the next few days, according to announcement by city officials. From the river to Nevada and Seventeenth street, concrete piping has been laid. From this point under the railroad tracks toward the intake end of the job, the corrugated iron pipe will be pushed. This will be a 261-foot stretch.

"Adhering strictly to the soundest principles of design, Chrysler engineers have, nevertheless, developed and applied these principles in a manner just as revolutionary as the application of steam to ocean-going ships. + + We believe that the creation of the Chrysler accomplished an all-important evolution in motor cars no less valuable than the original invention of the automobile."

—Advertisement Saturday Evening Post April 5, 1924

WHY CHRYSLER CAN'T BE COPIED

For five years the motor car industry has striven unceasingly to emulate and overtake Chrysler—yet all its best efforts and most persistent ambitions to that end have fallen far short of their goal.

As time rolls on, it becomes more and more manifest that Chrysler performance can't be copied—that only Chrysler engineering and Chrysler manufacturing methods can produce Chrysler results.

Chrysler results are uncopiable because Chrysler engineering is of an entirely new school of thought, because Chrysler ingenuity is free from the hindering and hampering influence of out-dated and hide-bound traditions.

Chrysler results are uncopiable, too, because Chrysler has the great manufacturing advantage of plant equipment as new and up-to-date as the Chrysler car itself.

So Chrysler goes marching on, strengthening its leadership, maintaining a wide margin of superiority in performance—demonstrating a virile fleetness, an eager spirit, an unwavering stamina and an unruffled smoothness other cars find impossible to equal or even approximate.

CHRYSLER "75"—$1535 to $1795—Eight Body Styles. CHRYSLER "65"—$1040 to $1145—Six Body Styles. All prices f. o. b. factory. Chrysler dealers extend convenient time payments.

How A Little Daily Dose of Kruschen Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat!

Yet Gives You Splendid Health With Added Energy and Vitality

It sounds easy, doesn't it?—well, it is the easiest, the safest and surest way to lose fat you could possibly desire!

KRUSCHEN SALTS—a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body must have every day to function properly—purify your blood of harmful acids, aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material (the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat). They are carried by your blood stream to give stimulus, life and new activity to every nerve, gland and body organ.

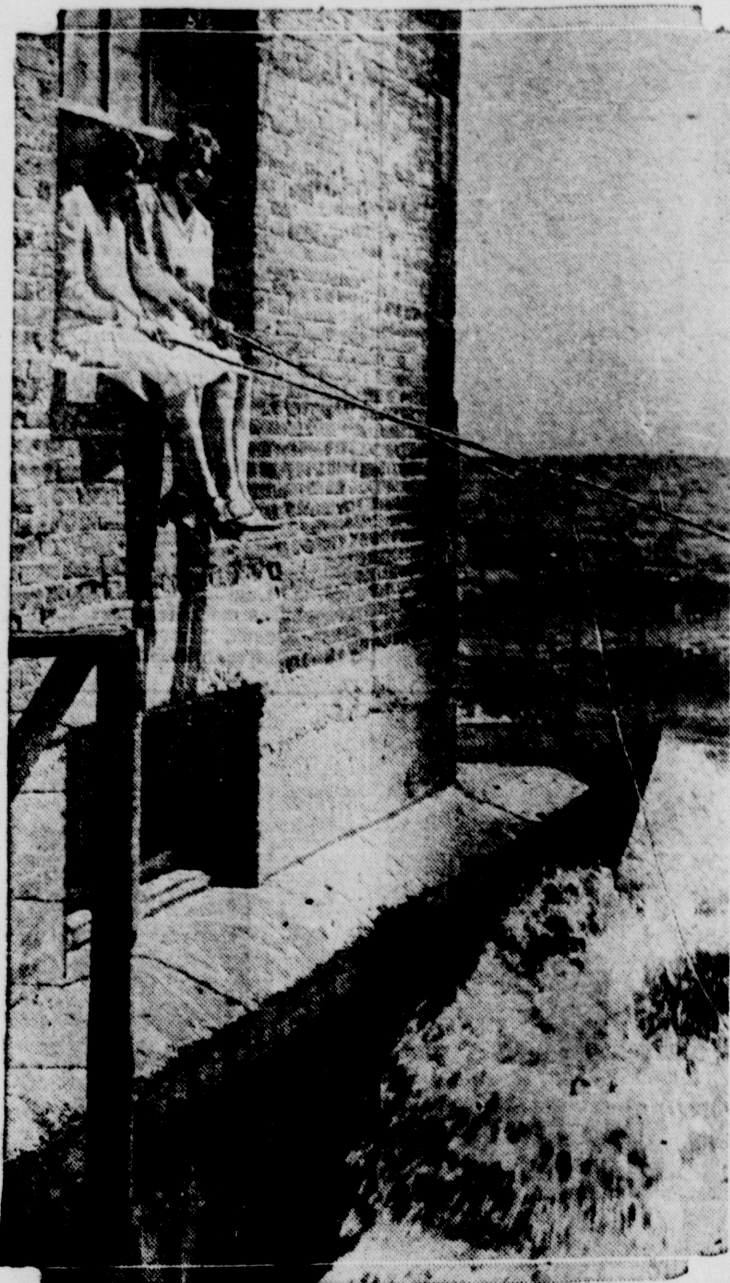

In this modern age of living, it's impossible to get these salts from the fancy foods you eat—but don't worry just as long as you have KRUSCHEN SALTS.

Take half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning. Little by little that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely and you feel so wonderfully healthy, ambitious and energetic—more so than ever before in your life!

Get an 85c bottle of KRUSCHEN SALTS at the Carnahan Drug company or any drug store (lasts two months). If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the best, surest and most pleasant way to lose fat—if your health isn't marvelously improved—your money gladly returned!—Adv.

FORD TO BUILD CARS IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON.—Henry Ford will build nearly a million cars in Russia within ten years, under provisions of the new contract between the American automobile magnate and the Soviet Union, Russian trade review said today.

A new plant, capable of turning out 100,000 of the new model "Lizzies" every year is under construction in Russia, and will be ready for operation within four years, it was announced. Prior to completion of the Russian plant, Russian government officials plan to import about $30,000,000 worth of automobiles.

When the new plant is ready for operation, plans and technical data will be furnished the Russian engineers, and they will carry on the production work in their plant on the Volga river.

Complexion Terrible. Had Pimples Three Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"When I was about fifteen years old my face became covered with pimples and blackheads. The pimples were small when they first started but gradually got larger and harder. Then they would fester and when I squeezed them they itched and burned causing me to scratch. My complexion was terrible. I had the trouble about three years."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using one and a half cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Cletus H. Geels, Ind. Truck Corp., Marion, Ind., April 10, 1929.

WELLSVILLE DEFEATS FIRST HALF CHAMPS, 9-3

W. Mundy Is Winner On Mound

Nick's Nine Snaps Out of Slump to Down Chester.

ROY NICHOLSON'S Wellsville club broke into the victory column in the second half drive of the Inter-City league when the downriver contingent trimmed the Chester News, first half winners, 9 to 3, at Nicholson Field.

Of Bill Mundy was on the mound and his southpaw slants yielded only six Chester bingles, Pete Cebula, the clubbing Chester shortstop, getting two of the half dozen.

Earl Springer, Chester slab ace, whizzed 'em down for the visitors and held his own with Ol' Bill until the fifth when the Wellsville nine, which has been sloughing around in the doldrums for several weeks, suddenly snapped out of their slump, found their batting eye and crashed out seven bingles, which, combined with a brace of errors, a passed ball and a walk, netted six markers. Tommy Maley, Wellsville catcher, enjoyed the distinction of singling safely twice in the one inning.

Until that point the score had been tied, 3 to 3, but these even half-dozen markers decided the issue.

The home club scored in the first frame. Lynch got on after he had officially struck out but Reese let the third strike get loose and the second baseman made it to first. Watson sent him down to second on a sacrifice but he was forced by G. Wagner, second baseman, to stop. However, he counted on Cal Wagner's single to center. The latter was knocked off as he tried to reach second.

But that one-run lead vanished as the visitors came up and chased in three runs in the second.

Marshall singled and Dewey Morgan doubled, Marshall being held at third. Reese then banged one at Jackson, at first, and Jackson threw low to the plate, Marshall scoring. Springer sacrificed and Kimble doubled. Morgan and Reese scoring, but Kimble was called out at first for failing to touch the base. Parsons was safe at first when his drive got through Jackson but was caught stealing, Maley to Lynch.

Chester held the lead only momentarily, however, two Wellsville runs in the third tying it up after two men had been retired.

Maley, leading off, was thrown out at first and Lynch fouled out to Reese. Watson singled and stole second, finishing on G. Wagner's double. The latter scored on Cal Wagner's single to center.

Wellsville sewed it up in the sixth during a seven-hit attack, all singles, six runs scoring before the side was retired.

Joe Canne, Wellsville third sacker, and Happy Jackson, first bag guardian, turned in a couple of fancy catches. Joe took one off the board fence in left field in the fourth while Jackson made an on-hand stab on the dead run to pull in Kimble's foul fly near the first base line bleachers in the fifth.

Mike Cebula and Harold Campbell, leftfielder and third baseman of the Chester nine, did not appear in last night's game, both being on the hospital list.

Willie Davies

Here's Wee Willie Davies, Charleroi flyweight, who tackles Carl Cavelli, Canton Italian, in the 10-round main bout of the boxing show tonight at Junction park.

Customary quota of East Liverpool district fight followers will be on deck tonight when Davies and Cavelli tangle in the headline scrap at Junction park.

Davies has fought them all. He's fought the Canton Italian twice and there's little doubt that Cavelli has given the Charleroi mite more trouble in those two scraps than Davies has experienced in a number of years from most of his other opponents. Davies won one of the bouts. The last one was a draw.

Nick Polio, tough Aliquippa slugger, faces Lee Sala, Donora, in the six-round semi-final, and in the matter of action, the main bout will have little, if anything on this event.

Jimmy Birch, rugged Ashtabula welter, is paired with Jack Boley in the other six. Bud Morrison and Rubie Sanders tie up in a four rounder.

The Scotch have the whole show to themselves in the other four-rounders, featuring Scotty Graham, Donora, and Scotty Baird, New Brighton high school athlete.

HOME RUN TWIN IDEA GOING BIG

Five Other Pairs Stealing Ruth-Gehrig Thunder.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Instead of being the only outstanding combination of circuit clouters in the big league, the Yankee firm of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig is being paced by five other duos in this year's home run derby. The totals of the six sets of home run twins are: Klein and O'Doul of the Phillies, 49; Wilson and Hornsby of the Cubs, 45; Ruth and Gehrig, 44; Bottomley and Hatfield of the Cardinals, 44; Ott and Jackson of the Giants, 44; and Simmons and Fox of the Athletics, 42.

Most of these combinations are grouped together in the batting order and when they start working the hit-and-walk play, the execution is terrific. Wilson and Hornsby went on a rampage against the Giants yesterday, "Knockout Hack" walloping his 24th and 25th homers and Hornsby contributing his 20th. Their activities enabled the Bruins to snatch an 8-to-7 win from the Giants, who scored all their runs in a sixth-inning outburst.

The Cubs regained the league lead, as Pittsburgh lost to Brooklyn again, 6 to 4. Babe Herman's two triples helped Lefty Clark outpoint Heinie Meine, the Pirate hurler.

Bill McKechnie resumed command of the St. Louis club under auspicious circumstances, the Cards beating the Phillies, 6 to 4. Roettger's homer with the bases full broke up the party.

George Sisler's triple with two on stalked the Boston Braves to a 5-to-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

With George Earnshaw chalking up his 15th win of the season, the Athletics made it two out of three from Cleveland, 5 to 3. Up until the ninth inning when the Indians scored all their runs, Earnshaw had held the Cleveland club scoreless in 22 consecutive innings this year.

Scoring three runs in the eighth on five consecutive hits, the Yankees beat Detroit again, 7 to 5. Pennock and Uhle pitched and Bill Dickey of the Yanks started at bat with a homer and three other hits.

Babe Ruth returned to the line-up unexpectedly but failed to make a hit.

Bob Burke, Washington southpaw, won his third game in seven days as the Nats subdued the White Sox, 3 to 2.

The Red Sox, who must have been eating raw meat lately, clouted 14 hits and outslugged the Browns, 9 to 7.

weight, won decision over Pat Haley, of Kensington (8).

Tommy Farley, Philadelphia, drew with Joe Wilton, also of Philadelphia.

AT MINEOLA, N. Y.—Jimmy Palumbo, of Jamaica, N. Y., outpointed Bobby Decker, Philadelphia (10).

AT CHICAGO—Les Marriner, Chicago heavyweight, outpointed Tony Fuente, California (6).

Soviet Russia in Europe bought more than $1,000,000 worth of American industrial machinery last year, which was twice that of 1927 and 10 times that of 1925.

Inter-City League

What with Forbes "Scotty" Alcock, former big leaguer, getting mixed up in this Inter-City league race as a sort of "board of strategy" at Wellsville; the Kates fighting tooth and toe nail to cop the flag they missed by inches, or rather one run, in the first half; Laughlin, a perennial pennant winner, getting back into the old form again; Chester rather set on making it unanimous and setting a procedure by winning the final half also; and the umpires having a Sam hill of a time of it with the clubs fighting every ball and strike, this second half baseball campaign here is getting just as torrid as the weather.

Chester has dropped three games in the second half to date, but it's still early and there's a lot of ball playing to be done.

Laughlin is sitting jauntily at the top with a pair of victories. The Kates have won their only start while Wellsville hopped to the .500 mark last night.

The Kates go into action tonight at Newell in one of the early "crucial" games of the half. The winner will go into first place. Chester will play at Newell Friday.

Yankees Haven't Blown-Macks Just Great Club--That's All

Hugmen Have Been Playing .760 Ball, Which is Not so Bad--But A's Have Been Better.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The boys who sit in the back room and come out to see what day it is, have come to the conclusion that the Yankees are licked for the American league pennant, which makes the boys only a month late in being right, and that the Yanks have blown, which makes them wrong with great alacrity. The Yanks have blown so completely that they are playing well ahead of their July speed of any year since 1926 and, with nothing in particular to beat, they would be riding out in front under an exercise boy by this time.

They simply have made the immortal mistake of all human kind. They have over-matched themselves. Due to be licked at even weights, they have staked one of the great ball clubs of the ages, the Philadelphia Athletics, to a 10-game lead and, if they find themselves tangle-footing around in a situation like that, it only means that providence still is dealing the deck.

The Yanks, winning two in a row from the Tigers yesterday, ran their luck into 19 victories in the last 26 games for a percentage of .760. That's moving faster than a fly-by-night promoter, yet they have looked the part of an ice wagon coming home from a hard day outside the shop of Mr. Sweeney, the popular barber. Why? Because, good as they are, it happens that they are being paced by a club that is better, much better. I admit that Ruth has been a sick man, that Meusel and Gehrig somehow can't hit the ground with a handful of confetti, that Pennock isn't the man he was and that Hoyt has lost everything except his appetite since June 26. But having conceded all of this, I fail to see where it proves anything on a club that moves at a .760 pace through the month just concluded.

It simply means that, in all the maudlin hysteria over the supposed death of a great club, that another and perhaps better one has risen in its place. It probably would take the Yankees of 1923 to beat the present Athletics and, even then, it would be a toss your coin and hope for the break. Time alone will ancient the Athletics and give them the benediction of greatness. They have everything now except the approval that hastens into the light of day as soon as victory is official. The boys always can be relied upon to approve very heartily of a winner.

GRUNT PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom," Lovable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

"He is taking his time," mumbled Vanardy, lighting a fresh cigarette.

"Why are you so sure he will come?" asked the lieutenant in an undertone. "If he knows you are laying for him—"

"He doesn't. He hasn't the least suspicion—Hush!" As he paused, three sharp knocks sounded on the door.

Vanardy leaned across the table and whispered tensely: "Don't move. And whatever happens, don't interfere."

"Going to let him in?"

"I shall open the door and see who is there. That's the natural thing to do when some one knocks, isn't it?"

Again three raps sounded loudly on the door. With a few quick strides Vanardy crossed the floor. He withdrew the bolt, turned the key in the lock, flung the door open and looked out into the black corridor.

The Murderer Appears.

"Who is there?" demanded Vanardy evenly. No response came, and the darkness in the corridor was impenetrable. For a few moments Vanardy held the door open, then closed it with a little slam and went back to his chair. The fire had died down to a faint and fluctuating shimmer, and the lieutenant's face was indistinguishable.

"Who was it?" he whispered.

"I couldn't see. The hall was black as pitch. He will be back in a minute or two."

"You locked the door, didn't you?"

"Oh, yes, but that won't stop him."

"You're sure he didn't get past you while you held it open?"

"Positive."

A little silence came. Still the blue of Culligore's pistol barrel gleamed in the dusk, but more faintly than before. After a brief interval of calm, the windows rattled before a violent push of wind.

"Wish he'd hurry up, if he is coming," whispered Culligore. "How do you know he won't slip away from us?"

"Because I have the advantage this time. I know where his exit is and I can block it. Remember, Culligore, not a word from you. And don't make the slightest move. I know how to manage him. There is a loaded pistol in my pocket, and I have one good arm. If he tries—"

He paused abruptly, reached across the table and gave Culligore's arm a warning pressure, then crouched back in his chair. A faint sound came, like that of a door turning on well-oiled hinges, but it was so slight that he would not have heard it except for the feverish alertness of his senses, and in the next instant it was obliterated by the roar of the storm. He sat far back in the chair, scarcely breathing, and no sound came from Culligore's side of the table.

A moment passed, then a vague vibration stirred in the air, accompanied by a scarcely perceptible movement across the floor. Vanardy heard nothing, but he was dimly conscious of a flicker against the shadows. The draft ceased, and again there came the faintly audible sound that resembled the swinging of a door. He had not noticed these things on the previous appearance of the mysterious visitor, for at that time his whole mind had been centered upon guarding the door, and the weirdness of it all had dulled his perceptions. Now his mind was clear and even the slightest manifestation was registered distinctly.

A brief pause came, and then, from the opposite side of the room, came the same doleful chanting voice he had heard on the previous occasion.

"Vanardy!"

Again he reached across the table and laid a warning hand on Culligore's arm.

"Ah, back again," he said carelessly. "I was dozing comfortably in this chair when I heard your knocks. What do you want this time?"

A low laugh sounded in the shadows. "So there you are. I can't see you, but your voice sounds familiar. I wouldn't advise you to turn on the light. I have a pistol, and will shoot the moment you do. I am rather surprised you didn't place any difficulties in the way of my entrance. Evidently you have discovered the route by this time. Your startling exploit yesterday morning proved that. You could have kept me out very easily."

"Didn't wish to seem inhospitable," said Vanardy lightly.

"Same old Gray Phantom! You felt secure, I suppose, in the belief that I was coming alone. That's where you were mistaken. Several of my friends are within call, and you have only one arm to protect yourself with. No matter, though. I have come to give you a final warning, Vanardy. Miss Hardwick's father will be dead before morning unless you show a decided inclination to comply with my demands."

He paused as if to let his words sink in. "That's absolutely final," he declared by way of emphasis. "Miss Hardwick's escape was unfortunate, but no great damage was done. How do you suppose she will feel when she learns that her father has been put to death?"

"This is your final warning," the voice went on. "Do as you please, but remember that the consequences will fall on Miss Hardwick and her father."

"I shan't forget," said Vanardy. "You are very considerate. It is kind of you to give me one more chance. That's rather more than I expected. When I heard your voice a few moments ago I thought you had come here to murder me."

"That was my original intention, but I dislike harsh methods. Besides, you are not as dangerous to us as you think. You think you know who I am, but you are mistaken. You would never guess."

"I admit you are disguising your voice very cleverly. Perhaps I know who you are; maybe I don't. We'll let that pass. You are the man who murdered Craig and instigated the death of William. That was a bit crude, entirely unworthy of the brilliant mind that conceived the idea of kidnapping Mr. Hardwick and holding him for $10,000,000 ransom. A really clever man doesn't find it necessary to kill."

"Ah, you are moralizing. I'm glad you admit it was a bright idea to kidnap the professor and capitalize your affection for his charming daughter. But you don't realize yet how clever I am, Vanardy. Doubtless it will surprise you to learn that I have been familiar with every move you have made since you left Sea Glimpse and gathered your old crowd together."

"That's where you are wrong. It doesn't surprise me in the least. I have suspected for some time that there was a traitor in my organization who was acting as your spy."

"Then you are shrewder than I thought. You will understand now how I was able to keep in close touch with your movements and see to what extent you prepared to meet my demands. I was familiar with the contents of those letters you sent out to the ten millionaires. In fact, I saw copies of them. That was a rather foolish move, Vanardy. Not exactly The Gray Phantom's way of doing things. Yet it might have worked. Do you know, I was very much amused when I learned that one of the ten letters was sent to my old friend Craig?"

He spoke the name with a hissing sound, expelling it on a breath that trembled with hatred and contrasted sharply with his singsong chant.

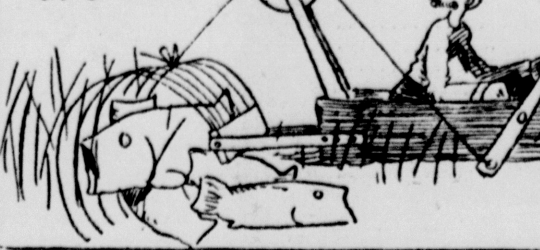

"It's just as well we understand each other," he went on. "You may be more reasonable when you realize how foolish it is to try to resist me. Yes, it amused me to hear that Craig had been asked to contribute to your fund. I have only one passion, Vanardy, and that is money. People who think they know me wouldn't suspect me of harboring such sordid desires, but it is the truth. All my life has been given over to the pursuit of fortune, and on the whole I have been pretty lucky. My preoccupation with money, however, hasn't prevented me from having my share of the ordinary mortal's foibles and vagaries. I can hate as bitterly as any man, and I hated Craig, had hated him for years. I was only waiting for a favorable opportunity to settle my score with him. Knowing him as well as I did, I knew the letters you sent him wouldn't have the desired effect. You went after him the wrong way, Vanardy. You made the mistake of treating a coward and a sneak as a gentleman. I decided to remedy your mistake, and my connections inside your organization made it easy for me."

SAINTS LOOKING TO FIRST PLACE

Every so often, dopesters, through the force of colossal circumstances, feel encouraged to predict that St. Paul will be in first position in the American association pennant race ere long, but this correspondent's utmost efforts to drag a wager from the forecasters have proved futile.

However, things look more promising for St. Paul now than they have in a long time.

Kansas City, the present league leaders, have slid into a shockingly disgraceful slump. Columbus recently took three games of a series from them and yesterday heaping coals were added to the fires of ignominy when Louisville obtained a 6-to-5 decision by reason of better ball playing.

St. Paul, which yesterday knocked out one more run than Columbus for a 6-to-5 score, is only .041 percent behind first place and fame.

And while St. Paul was bettering its surroundings in the double "A," Louisville brought to a climax its scuffle for fourth place.

That berth in the first division is now occupied by Indianapolis, which allowed Milwaukee to draw a win from it by a score of 10-to-2. As things are now, Louisville, in fifth position is only .011 per cent in arrears of the Hoosiers.

Milwaukee climbed up out of the cellar yesterday and Toledo slid in. But due to the fact that Toledo and Milwaukee are exchanging places almost daily, neither team has caused any excitement, or will they, until one or the other starts an ascension act.

There is no big difference between seventh and eighth places and as the percentage column tells us, Milwaukee is only .001 per cent ahead of the Mudhens, which is not enough margin to cause any uproarious outburst.

Minneapolis completed Toledo's downfall by registering an 8-to-5 victory. Minneapolis is third, not a whole lot behind St. Paul in second, but just enough to avoid causing the Saints worry.

GREENE COUNTY OPENS DOG TRACK

XENIA, O., July 25.—The dogs will run in Greene county tonight, and the "investment and cash prize" system of "betting" will be in vogue, perhaps.

Approximately $75,000 has been invested in the racing track at Fairfield, which is located 12 miles east of here. The track will probably be crowded to its capacity and many people from Dayton, in adjoining Montgomery county, will visit the "Monte Carlo" of dog racing, it is expected.

Officials of the track, which is operating under the name of Fairfield Park Amusement, Inc., decline to discuss the "investment and cash prize" method of wagering, but reports declared that it is identical to the "contribution system," which, some court officials have declared, is legal under the present laws of Ohio.

Meanwhile County Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall has issued a "no betting" edict and declares he will enforce it.

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocroticacidester of Salicylicacid

THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer ALL TALKING PICTURE

Norma Shearer-Lewis Stone
H. B. Warner-Raymond Hackett

"He gave me a Rolls Royce . . . and an apartment . . ."

A woman with a past—a woman giving her life to an act of the greatest self-sacrifice—now before the bar of justice. The voice of Mary Dugan speaks out from the magic Talking screen to tell the world that the newest and greatest All-Talking Murder Mystery picture has arrived. The stage hit, thrilling as it was, becomes in the speaking films a drama destined to establish new standards in the entire world of entertainment.
